Local Marine Hurt In Crash Of Car, Truck

David Deyarmon Injured Critically; Companion Dies

An East Liverpool Marine is in "critical" condition today at the Bedford (Pa.) County Hospital with injuries received in a head-on auto-truck crash Sunday near Breezewood. Another Marine was killed and two others were injured in the collision.

Pvt. David R. Deyarmon, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Deyarmon, 929 Florence St., suffered a ruptured spleen in the crash between his car and the truck operated by Arthur J. Brown of Portsmouth, Va.

Gary J. Ranchel, 18, of Lima died at the hospital about five hours after the crash. The two other Marines in "fair" condition with lacerations are Wilbur Steigewalt, 21, of Wadsworth and Irvin E. Carnes, 18, of North Jackson.

Brown escaped injury. The truck was an empty automobile carrier. Pennsylvania State Police said the auto was attempting to pass another vehicle on Route 126 about five miles south of Breezewood. It is not known who was driving.

Deyarmon underwent surgery for removal of the spleen. He also suffered lacerations.

Deyarmon left home about 3:30 a. m. yesterday to return to Camp Lejeune, N. C. He had been home on a 10-day holiday leave. He first went to Youngstown, where he picked up his three companions. They were due back in camp Sunday midnight.

A 1958 graduate of East Liverpool High School, Deyarmon entered the service in July. He was a regional wrestling champ in 1957-58. He also attended Kent State University, where he was on the wrestling team.

His parents are at the hospital.

Meanwhile, an East End man is in "fair" condition today with injuries suffered Sunday morning when he lost control of his borrowed car and it plunged down a 25-foot embankment on Dewey Ave. Ext.

Robert E. Hickman, 28, of 1220 Harvey Ave. suffered possible back and hip injuries and a laceration of the head in the one-car crash at 8:15 a. m. yesterday.

He will be arraigned in Municipal Court on charges of reckless driving and driving without an operator's permit when he is released.

Liverpool Township Constable Wilbert Taylor filed the charges against Hickman. The constable said Hickman, headed east in a 1957 car owned by Lawrence Linkous of R. D. 2, lost control on a curve, skidded about 100 feet after he applied his brakes and plunged down the embankment.

The car was damaged extensively, Taylor said.

Snowstorm Grips Midwest States

By The Associated Press

Winter's most severe storm hammered wide sections of the Midwest today, stranding motorists and curtailing travel.

Blizzard conditions prevailed in some areas in the path of the heavy snow and strong winds from Kansas northward through the Dakotas, eastern Nebraska and northeastward into western Iowa and southwestern Minnesota.

Many highways in northwestern Missouri, southwestern Iowa and southeastern Nebraska were clogged by heavily drifted snow.

Heavy snow warnings—from 4 to 8 inches—were issued for parts of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Nebraska and Iowa. Winds of 30 to 50 m.p.h. were forecast during the day and much colder weather appeared on the way.

Hundreds of automobiles were reported stalled in parts of the storm belt Sunday.

All bus traffic out of Lincoln, Neb., was halted Sunday night because of the snow-packed glazed highways. Some 300 cars were reported stalled at various times on highways in the area.

Rainy and foggy weather was reported in other Midwest areas, but the rain was expected to change to snow during the day as colder air moves southeastward.

In contrast to the stormy conditions in the Mid-Continent, unseasonably warm weather prevailed in the eastern sections of the country. Warm, moist southerly winds for the past few days sent temperatures to record or near record marks for the date in many cities.

The southerly winds also brought heavy rains to the Mississippi Valley. Three persons were killed in a plane crash at Sibley, La., when the plane reportedly hit a squall line.

Snow fell during the night in most of New England but it was expected to turn to rain in southern coastal areas and to freezing rain in interior southern sections.

Freezing rain also slicked highways in northern and central parts of New York state. Travel was sharply curtailed in some areas.

Showers fell in the Lower Great Lakes region and Ohio Valley southward to the Gulf and eastward into New York and Pennsylvania. Moderate to heavy showers pelted areas from Kentucky southward into northern Alabama.

Temperatures in the East were in the 30s and 40s and ranged up to the 60s and 70s in Florida. The 30s and 40s also prevailed along the Pacific Coast.

602 Die In All Mishaps

Traffic Kills At Least 488 In U.S. On Long Weekend

Traffic	488
Fires	42
Miscellaneous	72
Total	602

By The Associated Press

The nation's three-day Christmas holiday apparently cost substantially less in traffic deaths this year than in comparable Christmas weekends of recent years.

The total—under 500 as delayed reports of fatalities between 6 p.m., Thursday, and Sunday midnight were tabulated — was roughly 15 per cent less than the 609 lives claimed in 1955, and smaller than the 523 of 1953.

Like this year's holiday, those of 1955 and 1953 also were three-day observances.

The National Safety Council, which had estimated before the holiday that 530 deaths might be expected, pointed out that the current toll came with 71 million cars in operating condition — 25 per cent more than in 1953 and 12 per cent more than in 1955.

The staggering toll, however, far exceeds the number that would be killed on the highways during a non-holiday weekend period of the same length at this time of year. The council estimated 370.

The Associated Press in a survey during a non-holiday period earlier this month, covering 78 hours, counted 324 traffic fatalities. The survey also showed 22 deaths in fires and 68 killed in miscellaneous type accidents.

The weather played an important part in this season's accident death toll, safety experts said. Blowing snow and ice-glazed highways made driving conditions hazardous in many parts of the Plains states and the northern Midwest. Fog also slowed travel in many areas.

Millions of homeward bound holiday motorists added to the driving hazards. Law enforcement agencies maintained full shifts around the clock to press enforcement of traffic regulations.

The traffic death rate was higher than for the first 78 hours of last year's four - day Christmas weekend. Last year, at midnight Dec. 27, the fatalities on the highways totaled 444. For the full 102-hour period, the total was 559.

In the last three-day Chiristmas period, in 1955, there were 609 fatalities. The record accident death toll for any holiday period was in the 1956 four-day Christmas period. There were 706 traffic fatalities, 54 deaths from fires and 124 killed in miscellaneous accidents, an over-all record total of 884.

Food Poisoning Kills 2, Leaves 25 Others Ill

DETROIT (AP) — Two women died and 25 persons, including eight children, were stricken ill with food poisoning in Detroit Sunday.

The dead were Anna Kahanak, 61, and Isabella Tait, 79.

Nineteen were admitted to hospitals, and six were treated and released.

Detective Sgt. Dave Harris of the Homicide Bureau said there was no reason for general alarm.

"There was no connection between the scattered attacks," Harris said.

Sunday Talks In Steel Fight Get Nowhere

Eisenhower Board Re-enters Dispute As Hopes Darken

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's board of inquiry moves back into the stalemated steel dispute today in an atmosphere of rising tension and thickening gloom.

Joseph F. Finnegan, chief federal mediator, said negotiations Sunday between top industry and United Steelworkers bargaining teams produced "zero" results.

There were reports that some of the scores of individual company negotiations staged simultaneously Sunday were getting results worse then zero. A few negotiators emerged to tell reporters that relations seemed to be deteriorating instead of improving.

New meetings were scheduled today for most of the 11 company groups which were assembled in Washington, as well as by many of the approximately 80 company and union negotiators of smaller steel firms across the country.

President David J. McDonald of the USW indicated this might be the last try for company-by-company settlements by which he had hoped to crack the steel industry's solid front.

Eisenhower's three - man fact finding board scheduled separate morning sessions with the union and industry negotiating teams. The fact finders also scheduled an afternoon session at which the companies were to make their "last offer."

Interchange Design Receives Approval

The city has received a "green light" to proceed with the final design of the W. 8th St. interchange as part of the city expressway from the city limits in California Hollow to W. 3rd and Monroe Sts., Mayor Fred P. Lawrence informed four members of City Council attending a special meeting this morning.

Lawrence said the State Highway Department has notified George S. Bloomgren, city engineer, that the Federal Bureau of Public Roads has approved the design of the interchange.

The interchange design has been the major factor in delaying preparation of plans.

The letter from W. J. Cremean, engineer of location and design, and Robert B. Burket, design engineer, read:

"We have received approval from the Bureau of Public Roads to proceed with the design of the interchange on the basis of providing a "collector - distributor" road on the east side of U. S. Route 30 between the ramps.

"Please instruct the consultant to proceed with the detailed plans accordingly. We believe this removes all of the questions relating to the design of the project and the consultant should be able to proceed to the field and office conference stage."

Bloomgren already has advised Michael Baker Jr., Inc., of Rochester, consulting engineers on the project, of the approval, the mayor said.

Rockefeller Action Stirs Rival Claims

Both Parties Seek To Capitalize Upon Withdrawal In Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both major parties strove today to capitalize on a stunning political surprise — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's withdrawal from the race for the Republican presidential nomination.

Republicans pictured the GOP as a unified party, one which refrains from rending itself apart in brawling convention contests — a party which can now devote all its energies to electing Vice President Richard M. Nixon to the presidency.

Democrats depicted the GOP as controlled by old pro conservatives, who do not give "progressives" like the New York governor a look-in. There was even talk—notably by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas — of drafting Rockefeller for a high post under "the Democratic president to be elected next November."

Neither party had much to say in public about the problems posed for it by Rockefeller's "definite and final" announcement on Saturday that he would not be a candidate in 1960 for the presidential nomination, and would not accept the vice presidential spot.

One big poser for the Republicans was how to pump any drama into their convention opening in Chicago next July 25. It will be like a mystery novel of which every reader knows the ending. Nothing now sighted on the political horizon can prevent a first ballot nomination for Nixon. The only suspense lies in the choice of his running mate.

And if political custom holds, Nixon and not the delegates will make that choice. He said Sunday, as he left in high good humor to attend the Colts-Giants football game in Baltimore, that it was too early to talk about the 1960 ticket.

The Republican national chairman, Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, praised Rockefeller for "so clearly stating his position." Morton said he felt Nixon was well ahead in the GOP presidential nomination picture.

The White House declined comment on Rockefeller's withdrawal.

For the Democrats—with their small army of aspirants who show no signs of withdrawing—the problem is how to pick the best man to take on Nixon without ripping the party seams by fights over religion, North-South issues and other matters.

When they meet in Los Angeles July 11, the Democrats will be laboring under no uncertainty as to whom they must prepare to fight. It will be Nixon, a versatile campaigner who can take a high-level stance or slug it out with the roughest.

Landslide At Irondale Halts Traffic Briefly

IRONDALE — Traffic was delayed for about an hour this morning when a landslide blocked both lanes of County Road 50 near the village.

Road crews from Saline Township and Irondale began work at about 9 this morning, clearing away rocks and mud in the slide area along a narrow stretch of road known as "The Narrows."

The road was expected to be cleared of debris about noon. Workmen opened one lane shortly after the landslide occurred at approximately 8:30.

A resident reported a giant rock tumbled from an overhanging cliff to near the highway sometime Sunday. It apparently was dislodged by recent rains and warm weather.

Police Grab 7 With Guns As Plant Reopens

Operations Resume At Wilson Company Under Court Order

There were no disturbances however, as cars carrying nonunion workers streamed into the grounds of the plant, reopened today under federal court order.

The wife of the Freeborn County sheriff said the seven men were jailed and seven weapons confiscated. In the absence of the sheriff, who was on duty near the plant, she did not know what charges had been lodged against the seven, she said.

The plant resumed operations under protection of National Guardsmen, sent here 2½ weeks ago to quell picket line violence.

The United Packinghouse Workers of America had only token pickets at the gates as cars carrying workers streamed into the grounds this morning.

Martial law in Albert Lea and surrounding Freeborn County was lifted at midnight in compliance with the court order that reopened the plant.

The Guardsmen were kept on duty, however, to help local police to keep the peace that has been undisturbed since the two days of rockthrowing demonstrations Dec. 9 and 10.

Their main job was to enforce a District Court order issued before martial law was declared. The order signed by Judge John Cahill prohibited more than four union pickets at any plant entrance or more than three persons congregating outside the gates.

Ike Endorses Mid-May For Summit Talks

Definite Date Will Depend On British And French Views

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that a mid-May summit conference in Paris will be satisfactory to the United States.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty mentioned May 16 as probable. But he said a definite date depends upon consultations now in progress with France and Britain.

Eisenhower's decision on mid-May was reached in a telephone conference with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington.

Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission and seven other officials are flying down from the capital Tuesday for what Hagerty called "a general discussion with the President of the international and defense field, including the nuclear program for 1960."

That was broad enough to cover talks about an expected extension of the U.S. ban on nuclear tests. This has been in effect 14 months and expires Dec. 31 unless the administration acts to retain it.

British Seen Moving Toward Mid-May Date

LONDON (AP) — Britain appeared today to be swinging over to a mid-May summit meeting despite Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's reported perference for May 4.

British informants said the Western Allies probably will suggest a date—possibly May 18 or 19—to the Soviet Union within the next 48 hours.

'Tougher' Ordinance Due To Take Effect At End Of 30 Days

A controversial anti - gambling ordinance aimed chiefly at the numbers racket was passed on final reading at a special session of City Council this morning. It will become effective Jan. 28, at the end of a 30-day wait.

Councilman Reports Threat Given To Wife

Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr., one of four councilmen who supported passage of an anti-gambling ordinance, said his wife received a threatening telephone call this morning while he was attending a special session where the legislation received final passage.

Sample said the caller told his wife "he'd better change his vote or we will get to you." The veteran councilman said it is the third time he has received a threatening call since the anti-gambling ordinance was introduced early this month.

Councilmen A. Stanley Kidder, W. E. Kaiser, William Y. Orr and Robert W. Sample Jr. supported the legislation when it was introduced for third reading and then approved the new ordinance as read.

Kidder made the motion the ordinance be given third reading and also moved for final passage, with Kaiser offering the second in each instance.

The measure moved through the final stages without comment but following passage Mayor Fred P. Lawrence commended the four councilmen "for sticking to principles despite considerable opposition."

Councilmen H. A. Tullis, Samuel B. Webber and George E. Willshaw, who twice voted against passing the ordinance as an emergency measure under suspension of rules, were absent.

Hold Your Hat! Snow Awaited In 'Cold Front'

Summer-like temperatures are scheduled to vanish rapidly from the East Liverpool scene today because of a cold front blowing in from heavy snow storms in the Midwest.

The rapid drop in the temperature will produce snow flurries this afternoon, tonight and Tuesday, the weatherman warned.

The mercury went up to an unseasonable 58 at 4 p. m. Sunday at Dam 8 and the overnight low was 46. The warm weather was accompanied by rain—a total of thirty-five hundredths of an inch between midnight and 7 this morning.

The skies cleared briefly this morning, then a heavy rain struck.

Although the mercury will get up to a high of 53-58 this afternoon, it will be cloudy with a few snow flurries tonight and a low reading of 28-32, the weatherman said. Tuesday will be cloudy and colder with occasional snow flurries.

The approach of colder weather was blamed on a heavy snow storm which hit over the weekend in New Mexico and then moved into Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Winds of up to 50 miles an hour drifted snow across highways, snarling traffic.

The storm is moving northeastward, scheduled to hit next in Nebraska, Iowa, the Dakotas and Minnesota, the weatherman said.

There were no disturbances however, as cars carrying nonunion workers streamed into the grounds of the plant, reopened today under federal court order.

The wife of the Freeborn County sheriff said the seven men were jailed and seven weapons confiscated. In the absence of the sheriff, who was on duty near the plant, she did not know what charges had been lodged against the seven, she said.

The plant resumed operations under protection of National Guardsmen, sent here 2½ weeks ago to quell picket line violence.

The United Packinghouse Workers of America had only token pickets at the gates as cars carrying workers streamed into the grounds this morning.

Martial law in Albert Lea and surrounding Freeborn County was lifted at midnight in compliance with the court order that reopened the plant.

The Guardsmen were kept on duty, however, to help local police to keep the peace that has been undisturbed since the two days of rockthrowing demonstrations Dec. 9 and 10.

Their main job was to enforce a District Court order issued before martial law was declared. The order signed by Judge John Cahill prohibited more than four union pickets at any plant entrance or more than three persons congregating outside the gates.

Ike Endorses Mid-May For Summit Talks

Definite Date Will Depend On British And French Views

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower said today that a mid-May summit conference in Paris will be satisfactory to the United States.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty mentioned May 16 as probable. But he said a definite date depends upon consultations now in progress with France and Britain.

Eisenhower's decision on mid-May was reached in a telephone conference with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington.

Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission and seven other officials are flying down from the capital Tuesday for what Hagerty called "a general discussion with the President of the international and defense field, including the nuclear program for 1960."

That was broad enough to cover talks about an expected extension of the U.S. ban on nuclear tests. This has been in effect 14 months and expires Dec. 31 unless the administration acts to retain it.

British Seen Moving Toward Mid-May Date

LONDON (AP) — Britain appeared today to be swinging over to a mid-May summit meeting despite Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's reported perference for May 4.

British informants said the Western Allies probably will suggest a date—possibly May 18 or 19—to the Soviet Union within the next 48 hours.

'Tougher' Ordinance Due To Take Effect At End Of 30 Days

A controversial anti - gambling ordinance aimed chiefly at the numbers racket was passed on final reading at a special session of City Council this morning. It will become effective Jan. 28, at the end of a 30-day wait.

Councilman Reports Threat Given To Wife

Councilman Robert W. Sample Jr., one of four councilmen who supported passage of an anti-gambling ordinance, said his wife received a threatening telephone call this morning while he was attending a special session where the legislation received final passage.

Sample said the caller told his wife "he'd better change his vote or we will get to you." The veteran councilman said it is the third time he has received a threatening call since the anti-gambling ordinance was introduced early this month.

Councilmen A. Stanley Kidder, W. E. Kaiser, William Y. Orr and Robert W. Sample Jr. supported the legislation when it was introduced for third reading and then approved the new ordinance as read.

Kidder made the motion the ordinance be given third reading and also moved for final passage, with Kaiser offering the second in each instance.

The measure moved through the final stages without comment but following passage Mayor Fred P. Lawrence commended the four councilmen "for sticking to principles despite considerable opposition."

Councilmen H. A. Tullis, Samuel B. Webber and George E. Willshaw, who twice voted against passing the ordinance as an emergency measure under suspension of rules, were absent.

Hold Your Hat! Snow Awaited In 'Cold Front'

Summer-like temperatures are scheduled to vanish rapidly from the East Liverpool scene today because of a cold front blowing in from heavy snow storms in the Midwest.

The rapid drop in the temperature will produce snow flurries this afternoon, tonight and Tuesday, the weatherman warned.

The mercury went up to an unseasonable 58 at 4 p. m. Sunday at Dam 8 and the overnight low was 46. The warm weather was accompanied by rain—a total of thirty-five hundredths of an inch between midnight and 7 this morning.

The skies cleared briefly this morning, then a heavy rain struck.

Although the mercury will get up to a high of 53-58 this afternoon, it will be cloudy with a few snow flurries tonight and a low reading of 28-32, the weatherman said. Tuesday will be cloudy and colder with occasional snow flurries.

The approach of colder weather was blamed on a heavy snow storm which hit over the weekend in New Mexico and then moved into Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Winds of up to 50 miles an hour drifted snow across highways, snarling traffic.

The storm is moving northeastward, scheduled to hit next in Nebraska, Iowa, the Dakotas and Minnesota, the weatherman said.

Gov. Orville L. Freeman proclaimed martial law Dec. 11 after two days of rock-throwing violence directed at the nonunion workers Wilson had hired to replace the strikers. Freeman acted after city and county officers said they couldn't cope with the situation.

The National Guard moved in, and the plant was closed. Wilson appealed to the federal courts. A three-judge panel ruled last Wednesday that Freeman had exceeded his authority. Subsequently, the governor lifted martial law and turned over the 73 Guardsmen on duty to local authorities, effective at midnight. The guard commander, Maj. Gen. Richard Cook, was appointed an assistant police chief and a deputy sheriff.

Ralph Helstein of Chicago, international president of the UPWA, said that in the contract talks in Chicago last week, the company refused to state its position on major issues.

Main issue in the long dispute has been overtime. Wilson ended negotiations over a new contract Oct. 29 when 225 workers refused to work a nine-hour day, claiming this a violation of the contract. Management accused them of taking part in a sitdown strike and ordered them out of the plant. The talks in Chicago resumed Dec. 17.

settled finally before he leaves next week for a flying tour of Africa, had favored May 4 as the opening day of a summit meeting, responsible sources reported.

But British ambassadors in Washington and Paris—Sir Harold Caccia and Sir Gladwyn Jebb — are understood to have reported sentiment in those capitals favorable to a date in mid-May.

The British sources appeared to throw down a report by the newspaper France-Soir in Paris that the Western Big Three seemed to have agreed to propose May 16 as a starting date.

Driver Forfeits $166 In Cumberland Court

A city motorist forfeited $166 in bonds when he failed to appear for a hearing this morning in New Cumberland on a charge of driving while intoxicated and carrying a weapon in his auto.

Squire John D. Herron said Edward King, 23, of Oakland Ave. forfeited $109 on the drunk driving charge and $57 for carrying firearms in his auto. King's drivers license was automatically revoked for six months.

King was cited by Hancock County sheriff's deputies Thursday following an auto accident in Newell when his auto struck another operated by Andrew J. Turaney, 44, of Cleveland. The mishap occurred at 8:45 p. m. near Johnsonville Rd., they said.

Council

Only a handful of spectators, including three members of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association, were in the audience when the special session, called Thursday by Kidder, Kaiser and Sample, got under way a few minutes after 10.

After the meeting was called to order by President B. E. Warner, Ray Goodman, clerk of Council, read the call for the special meeting, noting that Tullis, Webber, Willshaw and Orr were handed copies of the call on Thursday while the three councilmen who signed the call waived the notices.

Speaking briefly after passing of the legislation, Mayor Lawrence said the ordinance is "a major step to strengthen the police department."

"It really is directed at a major evil described in the past from bribery on down and not at minor items mentioned by others," the mayor said.

The special session apparently will be the final one for the seven Republican members who leave office at midnight Thursday.

However, Kidder, chairman of the ordinance committee, said he is willing to meet one more morning or on New Year's Eve to act on legislation granting a salary increase effective Friday for the new Council clerk.

Kidder said he had ordered in the legislation but pointed out it requires six affirmative votes to be passed under suspension of rules. Kidder said he telephoned the three absent members Sunday "but they were unable to be here this morning."

The salary increase for the clerk was overlooked when Council approved pay increases for other employes, Kidder said, because Council assumed the new Council could set the salary for the appointive position.

Although an oversight, Kidder said he believed failure to grant a salary increase would be an "injustice." The post now pays $800 a year but Kidder said he proposed a salary of $105 to $110 a month.

However, no amount was designated in the proposed legislation, Kidder explained, so Council could caucus to determine the new salary.

Two resolutions authorizing payment of claims also were not brought on the floor but apparently will be deferred until the new Council takes office.

According to one recent estimate, the number of husbands who desert their homes is 14 times the number of wives who walk out on their families.

Troop Moves In Iraq Linked To Revolt Talk

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Reports of unrest sweeping southern Iraq roused speculation today that Premier Abdel Karim Kassem may be moving troops into the area to counter a threat of revolt rather than to launch any move against Iran.

Iraqi tradesman crossing the border from Basra into Iran said opposition to Kassem's regime is mounting, with tribesmen arming farmers and other civilians for an open revolt. There was no way of determining the accuracy of the reports.

One merchant said a demonstration had been staged against Kassem in the Iraqi village of Amereh and anti-Kassem leaflets distributed.

There were reports also of new Iraqi troop movements west of the frontier above Khorramshahr.

Previous reports of troop movements on the Iraqi side of the Iraq-Iran frontier raised fears in Iran that Kassem might be planning military action in support of his claim to land occupied by Iran adjacent to the Shatt-Al-Arab estuary. Reliable sources said Iranian divisions along the frontier, as well as in Azerbaijan, on the Soviet border, had been put on the alert.

The Iranian high command softpedaled the situation saying the Iranian troop movements were merely part of normal seasonal maneuvers.

Pay Boosts Morale

KENTON, Ohio (AP) — After several years with no pay raises, city water clerk Al Brielmaier phoned Mayor John Cook that he was quitting. "Why, Al," replied the mayor, "You got a 22 per cent raise two years ago." It turned out Brielmaier was the only city employe who had not received the raise. He decided to stay on at his new salary of $315 monthly.

Officials In Hancock Await State Discussion

Hancock County's elected officials are scheduled to meet in Charleston Jan. 3-5 with other West Virginia groups to vote on establishing a proposed State Association of County Officials.

The office of Kanawha County Commissioner Albert H. Glenn in Charleston said the meeting is for county sheriffs, assessors, clerks and commissioners.

Tentative plans for the January session were made in October at a gathering of elected officials in Wheeling.

Glenn, president of the West Virginia County Commissioners Association, has emphasized that formation of the new group will not mean disbandment of the four individual associations.

The weapons were found as officers searched every car going through the plant gate.

A Wilson spokesman said the plant would concentrate on butchering hogs today, with further processing scheduled for Tuesday. No cattle or sheep were on hand.

Gov. Orville L. Freeman proclaimed martial law Dec. 11 after two days of rock-throwing violence directed at the nonunion workers Wilson had hired to replace the strikers. Freeman acted after city and county officers said they couldn't cope with the situation.

The National Guard moved in, and the plant was closed. Wilson appealed to the federal courts. A three-judge panel ruled last Wednesday that Freeman had exceeded his authority. Subsequently, the governor lifted martial law and turned over the 73 Guardsmen on duty to local authorities, effective at midnight. The guard commander, Maj. Gen. Richard Cook, was appointed an assistant police chief and a deputy sheriff.

Ralph Helstein of Chicago, international president of the UPWA, said that in the contract talks in Chicago last week, the company refused to state its position on major issues.

Main issue in the long dispute has been overtime. Wilson ended negotiations over a new contract Oct. 29 when 225 workers refused to work a nine-hour day, claiming this a violation of the contract. Management accused them of taking part in a sitdown strike and ordered them out of the plant. The talks in Chicago resumed Dec. 17.

settled finally before he leaves next week for a flying tour of Africa, had favored May 4 as the opening day of a summit meeting, responsible sources reported.

But British ambassadors in Washington and Paris—Sir Harold Caccia and Sir Gladwyn Jebb — are understood to have reported sentiment in those capitals favorable to a date in mid-May.

The British sources appeared to throw down a report by the newspaper France-Soir in Paris that the Western Big Three seemed to have agreed to propose May 16 as a starting date.

Driver Forfeits $166 In Cumberland Court

A city motorist forfeited $166 in bonds when he failed to appear for a hearing this morning in New Cumberland on a charge of driving while intoxicated and carrying a weapon in his auto.

Squire John D. Herron said Edward King, 23, of Oakland Ave. forfeited $109 on the drunk driving charge and $57 for carrying firearms in his auto. King's drivers license was automatically revoked for six months.

King was cited by Hancock County sheriff's deputies Thursday following an auto accident in Newell when his auto struck another operated by Andrew J. Turaney, 44, of Cleveland. The mishap occurred at 8:45 p. m. near Johnsonville Rd., they said.

Council

Only a handful of spectators, including three members of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association, were in the audience when the special session, called Thursday by Kidder, Kaiser and Sample, got under way a few minutes after 10.

After the meeting was called to order by President B. E. Warner, Ray Goodman, clerk of Council, read the call for the special meeting, noting that Tullis, Webber, Willshaw and Orr were handed copies of the call on Thursday while the three councilmen who signed the call waived the notices.

Speaking briefly after passing of the legislation, Mayor Lawrence said the ordinance is "a major step to strengthen the police department."

"It really is directed at a major evil described in the past from bribery on down and not at minor items mentioned by others," the mayor said.

The special session apparently will be the final one for the seven Republican members who leave office at midnight Thursday.

However, Kidder, chairman of the ordinance committee, said he is willing to meet one more morning or on New Year's Eve to act on legislation granting a salary increase effective Friday for the new Council clerk.

Kidder said he had ordered in the legislation but pointed out it requires six affirmative votes to be passed under suspension of rules. Kidder said he telephoned the three absent members Sunday "but they were unable to be here this morning."

The salary increase for the clerk was overlooked when Council approved pay increases for other employes, Kidder said, because Council assumed the new Council could set the salary for the appointive position.

Although an oversight, Kidder said he believed failure to grant a salary increase would be an "injustice." The post now pays $600 a year but Kidder said he proposed a salary of $105 to $110 a month.

However, no amount was designated in the proposed legislation, Kidder explained, so Council could caucus to determine the new salary.

Two resolutions authorizing payment of claims also were not brought on the floor but apparently will be deferred until the new Council takes office.

According to one recent estimate, the number of husbands who desert their homes is 14 times the number of wives who walk out on their families.

Troop Moves In Iraq Linked To Revolt Talk

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Reports of unrest sweeping southern Iraq roused speculation today that Premier Abdel Karim Kassem may be moving troops into the area to counter a threat of revolt rather than to launch any move against Iran.

Iraqi tradesman crossing the border from Basra into Iran said opposition to Kassem's regime is mounting, with tribesmen arming farmers and other civilians for an open revolt. There was no way of determining the accuracy of the reports.

One merchant said a demonstration had been staged against Kassem in the Iraqi village of Amereh and anti-Kassem leaflets distributed.

There were reports also of new Iraqi troop movements west of the frontier above Khorramshahr.

Previous reports of troop movements on the Iraqi side of the Iraq-Iran frontier raised fears in Iran that Kassem might be planning military action in support of his claim to land occupied by Iran adjacent to the Shatt-Al-Arab estuary. Reliable sources said Iranian divisions along the frontier, as well as in Azerbaijan, on the Soviet border, had been put on the alert.

The Iranian high command softpedaled the situation saying the Iranian troop movements were merely part of normal seasonal maneuvers.

Pay Boosts Morale

KENTON, Ohio (AP) — After several years with no pay raises, city water clerk Al Brielmaier phoned Mayor John Cook that he was quitting. "Why, Al," replied the mayor, "You got a 22 per cent raise two years ago." It turned out Brielmaier was the only city employe who had not received the raise. He decided to stay on at his new salary of $315 monthly.

Officials In Hancock Await State Discussion

Hancock County's elected officials are scheduled to meet in Charleston Jan. 3-5 with other West Virginia groups to vote on establishing a proposed State Association of County Officials.

The office of Kanawha County Commissioner Albert H. Glenn in Charleston said the meeting is for county sheriffs, assessors, clerks and commissioners.

Tentative plans for the January session were made in October at a gathering of elected officials in Wheeling.

Glenn, president of the West Virginia County Commissioners Association, has emphasized that formation of the new group will not mean disbandment of the four individual associations.

Lisbon Shows Decline For Yule Mail Volume

LISBON — Christmas mail traffic dipped in comparison to 1958, according to Postmaster Howard E. Hochman, who said 200,389 cancellations were made in the first 23 days of December.

In 1958, there were 204,004 in the similar period — a margin of 3,615, Hochman said. The highest daily cancellation this year was on Dec. 16 with a total of 21,825. In December 1958, the highest was 20,960.

Research In Highway Disease

The suggestion that Ohio look into the possibility of setting up a research center on traffic safety is not far-fetched.

Slaughter on the highways is one of the big headaches of our time. Progress has been made toward easing it, with the number of fatalities per passenger-miles traveled dropping steadily every year. This has been achieved through the obvious approaches—better law enforcement and highly organized publicity campaigns directed against the obvious causes of traffic fatalities and better engineering to eradicate the obvious flaws in road-building.

But the traffic toll remains high in actual number of lives lost and many safety experts realize the obvious techniques are good only to a point. It is time to dig deeper, to find some of the hidden factors in highway tragedy to refine the methods of correcting them.

Just as research is used to discover the causes and then the cures of disease, research is probably the only key to future success in traffic safety.

When superhighways were being pioneered, the consensus was that they should be as straight and flat as possible. But research has shown this provides a monotony that can lull the motorist into boredom and dangerously dull his senses. So engineers now build curves and hills into roads, to keep drivers alert.

Some clues have been discovered in safety studies that research could project into life-saving knowledge. Why are some makes of cars involved in more fatal crashes than others? What are the personality factors that make some drivers more accident-prone than others? Why do a few people become more alert and careful after they have had a couple of drinks when most become dangerous?

Ohio, with its dense population, would be an ideal place to try to find the answers to such questions. By adopting the research approach to traffic safety, it could not only serve its own citizens but blaze a trail for the rest of the nation.

Ferguson Runs A Gravy Train

One thing which can be said in State Treasurer Joseph Ferguson's favor is that when he runs a gravy train he does not try to slip by with the engine throttled down.

His free-swinging handling of sales tax stamp distribution is the case in point.

He had barely warmed the chair in his new office early this year when he announced a wholesale shakeup in agents "to spread the gravy around" among what he called "deserving Democrats."

Now he has announced a boost in commissions. He concedes that the bulk of the new gravy will go to about 50 agents, apparently the most "deserving."

Mr. Ferguson listed three principal reasons for his decision: The old rate does not take into account higher operating costs; the new, smaller stamps will be a bigger nuisance, and the new commission rates will help offset the revenue that agents lost when the Legislature did away with stamps on auto sales.

The motives prompt some reflections.

It is doubtful the Legislature ever considered the stamp agencies as profit enterprises of a magnitude requiring "cost-of-living" adjustments. They were set up as a practical means of getting the stamps into retailers' hands.

It is difficult to see how the size of stamps can affect the agents' costs.

It is questionable that the Legislature intended to compensate agents for the loss of revenue involved in abandoning auto sales stamps. The purpose of the change was to save the state money.

Above all, it is noteworthy that the new commissions will not apply to county treasurers or court clerks, whose income from stamp sales goes into public funds, even though their costs would logically be as high as other agents'.

Mr. Ferguson has been fighting a running battle with Gov. DiSalle over the latter's efforts to abolish the stamps entirely.

Prison Would Be Worse Than Nothing

New York's Gov. Rockefeller, whose utterances make news these days, has lent his signature to a recommendation for putting 15-year-old boys in prison. The recommendation grew out of a study of murder and other juvenile violence in New York City.

The same study recommended easing labor laws to let boys of 14 and 15 go to work, centralized probation service, suitable places for parolees with no homes to go to, establishing a Bureau of Youth Information and other proposals to ease a problem that has been a nightmare for New York City.

There is an oddity common to all the proposals being made about juvenile delinquency in New York City. They are designed to deal with problems that arise after the damage has been done to the youngsters whose misbehavior causes the problem in the first place. They are too late.

No one is suggesting that New York City should bar the further influx of immigrants until the hundreds of thousands now milling about helplessly in its slums can be housed and assimilated into the city's life.

No one is suggesting that the interest of the political machine that runs New York City is being put ahead of the welfare of New Yorkers who cannot be guaranteed police protection because the votes of people who cannot be controlled are more important than the votes of people who need protection.

And no one ever is going to suggest that the root of the trouble is the over-congestion of the city, itself-too many people forced to live too close together in an environment that would challenge the mental resources of citizens with more extensive education and stronger social backgrounds.

It is possible that some of the consequences of overcrowding might be concealed by putting children in prison at an earlier age and by letting boys go to work in their early teens. But it is not to be imagined that juvenile delinquency in New York City will be brought under control until there has been a basic change in the most favorable breeding place for delinquency in the United States.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Santa was lucky. He got through without a Senate inquiry, a grand jury probe, a hint from Estes Kefauver that he was a monopoly or a charge by the Federal Food Department that his whiskers had been sprayed by a chemical which endangered kiddies. But it was a tough journey this year. Outer space isn't what it used to be.

For centuries the old boy could navigate it quite alone and without fear of collisions. But this year there was no telling when he might get telescoped by guided missiles, moon rockets or falling nose cones.

"My reindeer are nervous wrecks," said Santa today, "and several times threatened a sitdown strike. "I was jittery all the way and think I deserve U.N. protective steps and a Dag Hammarskjold watch-dog committee each Christmas Eve."

"I suffered from some of the airwave scandals, too," he went on.

"Quite a few people wrote letters asking what I wanted for Christmas. Other years such things cheered me but in view of the payola situation I had a feeling these letters could be from folks who were just reminding me to ask what they wanted in their stockings. I had to be extra careful."

Santa said he had been troubled, too, by increasing skepticism. "It was a year when people found it hard to think anybody was on the level," he said.

"Some parents complained the kids believed too deeply in the hoofbeats of my deer on every roof. I thought I might have to issue a statement that often the hoofbeats had to be augmented through sound effects and that in cases where the chimneys and fireplaces were pretty small it should be clearly understood there were technical deceptions.

"Well, you should feel great now after hearing the laughter and gay chatter of all the children Christmas morning," we said.

"I hope it was the real thing and not a taped recording," he said dismally.

ALTHOUGH UNCLE SAM is spending $30,000,000 for airports in Afghanistan, Ike had to land on one completed by Russia. This must have been an embarrassing moment.

Nelson Rockefeller says if he ever gets to the White House he will sell all his securities and dispose of other holdings that might create "conflict of interest." Oh, well, he can always retain a spectator interest in the Radio City skating rink.

TV SPORTS AUTHORITIES are defending curious practice of excluding all violence from baseball and football telecasts. Yet it is the airwave folks who shriek loudest against any form of censorship. It's a laugh when TV, which telecasts every dirty tactic in pro wrestling bouts, never omitting a single detail which makes mockery of sportsmanship, holds it is wrong to let public see a ruckus in a ball park.

Just heard of a corporation that has deferred a stock split because it was not in deep enough debt to let stockholders share the distress.

Roxy, first of the super movie houses in Gotham, is reported a possible sale to big realty interests. Where will ushers get military training if this theater ever closes?

Hollywood is to produce "Jack the Ripper" with theme song by same name. Yoo hoo Eric Johnston!

Czechoslovakian Fair in Prague has exhibit icturing the United States as worst of colonial states and painting Americans as "beastly." And, Mr. Khrushchev talks about the "Spirit of Camp David!"

If Ike wrote Santa Claus he must have said: "Dear Santa: All I want from Santa Christmas Day is a big "DO NOT DISTURB" sign to hang on my White House door.

Have I been a good boy? Are you kidding? I have not only done my best to be good at home but all over Asia and Europe and it wasn't easy.

I have traveled through the wintry skies as far as you have (maybe farther) and the load I have had to carry is nothing for you to belittle. You would need more reindeer.

You should realize what I've been through this Yuletide, Santa. The famous poem says you spoke not a word but went straight to your work. With me it was tougher. I had to keep talking! I must have said a million words. And those crowds! You are smart to time your tour so you can be sure nobody is up and around.

Well, in a way we have much in common. We try to please everybody and spread good will, generosity and peace. If I failed to do as much as you with the "Ho! Ho! Hi! Hi! Hi!" stuff it wasn't because I wasn't trying.

Tough To Jump Against

Khrushchev Tour Rated Top Story

By Tom Henshaw

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's September tour of the United States has been chosen the biggest story of 1959 by news editors in the annual poll of The Associated Press members.

Second was the spectacular Russian moon probes — they hit it with a rocket Sept. 14, the day before Khrushchev's arrival in the U. S., and later succeeded in taking the first picture of the lunar backside.

Both events had sobering aspects for the Western world.

The Khrushchev tour gave the American people their first closeup look at their arch - enemy in the Cold War as he moved from coast-to-coast, now affable, now ominous, never indifferent.

He showed himself to be a man who could be charming, crude, witty, dour, threatening — and, most important, dangerously quick-tempered for the leader of one of the world's greatest powers.

THE VISIT enabled Americans to make a new assessment of Khrushchev and he emerged as a tough, highly competent and dangerous antagonist, far from the buffoon he has been pictured in the past.

The Russian moon probes indicated that the Russians are considerably ahead of the United States in rocketry.

The Sept. 14 rocket was the first man-made object to land on the moon and the probe of Oct. 6, equipped with a camera, was the first to orbit the moon, transmitting its picture by radio.

Dr. Fidel Castro's ouster of the Batista regime in Cuba on Jan. 1 and his troubles during the year was the editors' choice as the third top story of the year.

Castro, whose long, seemingly hopeless revolt against strongman Batista gained him world sympathy, turned admiration into disillusionment in a welter of summary executions and angry taunts at the United States.

The editors' top choices in domestic stories, Nos. 4 and 5 in the poll, had a negative quality.

THE FIRST was the steel strike, the longest (116 days) steel shutdown in history, which slowed the American economy before a government injunction sent the workers back to the mills. The strike may resume when the injunction expires in January.

Next came the TV quiz show scandals, which actually began a year early but reached a climax in 1959 when Charles VanDoren, once the nation's intellectual hero, admitted having been given the answers.

Like the top two, the sixth and seventh stories on the editors' poll were closely allied.

President Eisenhower's growing direction of the country's foreign affairs, illustrated by his personal diplomacy jaunts through Europe, Asia and Africa, was No. 6.

But had it not been for the death of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Ike probably would not have stepped into the breach. Dulles' death and the appointment of Christian Herter as his successor was No. 7.

Other choices in the editors' top 10:

8.—Vice president Nixon's tour of Russia, during which he opened the American fair in the Soviet capital and engaged in a public verbal joust with Khrushchev.

9.—Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, which formally became the 49th and 50th states of the union when Eisenhower signed their statehood bills. They were the first new states in 47 years.

10.—The new labor relations law, the first passed by Congress since Taft - Hartley in 1947. Passed after mounting indications of corruption among organized labor's leadership, it placed added restrictions on unions, particularly their leaders.

The Top Ten

1.—Khrushchev's visit to U.S.

An Iceberg Thaws

By Frank Tripp

Mr. Iceberg was grossly annoyed by Christmas. He was well pleased that he had no children and was exquisitely satisfied with his selfish self.

"What on earth has youth to look forward to?" he said to me. "Just a hopeless world of unrest; no future, no escape. It is criminal to bring children into such a world. There is no opportunity for them—not even to acquire a modest competence such as mine."

It is difficult for one who has children, or for childless persons who love other people's children, to conceive that there can be greater joy or achievement in life than to see one's own flesh and blood pass through the electrifying stages of babyhood, childhood and youth. Still there are people who have no place in their hearts for children.

As you read, be patient with Mr. Iceberg's unnatural philosophy for you'll learn that he turned out all right. His modest competence, as he called it, was in reality quite substantial wealth in material things but he was a pauper nevertheless. He didn't even have a dog to love or to give a hoot for him. But he died a different man—and it happened this way:

"JUST TO CHANGE the subject," I said to him, well knowing that it was no change at all, "have you heard about poor Ed Corson's predicament?" He hadn't, so I talked on:

"Now there's a guy you ought to know. He has all of the problems that you rave about. He's busted, has five children and Christmas is a comin'."

"Plenty more like him," said my exceedingly close friend. "People who can't afford it always have the most children. They can't bring 'em up to be anything but gun fodder in a war-mad world or they end up dependents on society."

"Yep, Ed's from a gun fodder tribe," I said. "His people were in every war from the Revolution. Ed was in World War I and he lost a younger brother in the last war."

"Sort of a fighting family," he said. "In the blood."

"Yes, in the blood; fighting for their country, raising big families and always broke," I told him.

"SUCH PEOPLE are a national problem," said Mr. Iceberg. "What special calamity has befallen them now?"

"Oh, nothing much," I said. "Only that Ed's wife is a near helpless arthritic. Little Joe, his youngest boy, lately came down with infantile paralysis and as I came in the door a policeman told me that they just took Ed to the hospital with a broken leg."

"Probably not a penny laid away for such emergencies," he went on. "It just isn't in the cards. There is a man who could have nicely taken care of himself; but no, he had to raise a big family and look what happens to him."

"But Ed enjoys his family," I said. "I've been at his home often; when I wanted to look upon real affection and the kind of home that made America."

"I suppose so, but such emotions never appealed to me," said Mr. Iceberg. "It's none of my affair," he continued, "but how did your unusual friend get hurt?"

"IN VIEW of all I've told you about Ed, perhaps you'd like to make it your affair," I suggested.

"I don't go in for such stuff. That's the community's job," he hedged.

"I guess maybe this is different," I told him." After he dropped you off here, your chauffeur ran Ed down as he carried Little Joe toward the polio clinic."

"My God! My car did that?"

"Yes and the crippled lad isn't expected to live."

But Little Joe did live—and can walk again. That was his most wonderful Christmas.

Mr. Iceberg, faced by his first responsibility to a child, met the test and thawed into an agreeable companion who spent his last days concocting ways to beat the tax collector by his benefactions. Children bless his memory.

You see, a hard-boiled, selfish man got to see inside Ed Corson's humble home—and into a little child's heart.

Is there a Little Joe somewhere in your neighborhood?

Bright Eggheads

Birds run a poor second to mamals in mental power, but the feathered kingdom can boast a few strikingly bright eggheads.

The wise old owl isn't one of them. Members of only a handful of families — including ravens and crows, parrots, sparrows, and titmice — show the rare ability to learn. As a rule, birds' behavior is rigidly controlled by instinct. Their seeming intelligence cannot be equated to that of humans.

With training, however, ravens actually learn to count. These glossy, crafty birds of the Northern Hemisphere can distinguish up to six objects, regardless of shape or manner of arrangement. That colorful bird of the tropics, the parrot, also can learn to perceive numbers.

Ravens are especially clever in getting food and often cache it for a rainy day. In Greenland, two extraordinarily cunning ravens were observed hijacking meat from a husky. One tugged at the dog's tail to distract him while his partner darted in to grab the booty.

Crows, like their close kin, the ravens, quickly learn what is important to their welfare and what is not. They have enormous curiosity, like to play pranks, and adapt easily to man's civilization.

Not long ago, a crow appeared at the National Zoo in Washington, D.C., and adopted the uniformed policemen there. It rode traffic. During its stay, the friend-on the hoods of squad cars and the shoulders of officers directing ly crow lived extremely well.

An American Triumph

Ike's Trip Seen Having Great Effect

Despite the platitudes in the official communiques, something dramatic and of far-reaching significance that couldn't be put into words was accomplished by President Eisenhower's 22,000-mile tour of eleven nations in Asia, Europe and Africa.

David Lawrence

Good will toward America was manifested on every side. The unselfish purposes of the United States were recognized. No longer can it be said by wishful partisans in American politics that America is "hated" everywhere abroad.

Millions of people in all the countries visited had an opportunity to show their friendship for the American people. Mr. Eisenhower was the symbolic recipient of bouquets of appreciation for the interest the United States has taken in countries, large and small, many of which have received economic aid from this country in the struggling years of their existence.

Americans like to think back to what LaFayette symbolized when he came to the aid of the infant republic on this continent in its aspiration for independence.

So, too, will the acts of the now powerful United States everlastingly mean much to the underdeveloped nations, beginning with India in far-off Asia and reaching to Morocco on the eastern shore of the Atlantic.

CRITICS, of course, have not been silent. The London "Daily Herald," organ of the Socialist Labor party, for instance, called Mr. Eisenhower's visit to Spain a "blunder."

It declared that "those who believe in freedom feel betrayed," and didn't want to see Mr. Eisenhower "hobnobbing" with Gen. Franco. But this same "left-wing" newspaper cheered Prime Minister Macmillan's visit to dictator Khrushchev, ignoring the protests at the time of many exiles from the Communist-dominated countries.

Mr. Eisenhower didn't make his trip to give sanction to this or that form of government in any country. His cordial reception of Nikita Khurshchev last September and the forthcoming visit which Mr. Eisenhower will pay to the Soviet Union next spring are intended to emphasize a people-to-people relationship.

Everywhere on his trip the President referred to this theme because he knows that authoritarian forms of government are temporary and that eventually the nations of the world must inevitably find their salvation in free governments.

President Eisenhower proved an extraordinary ambassador of good will. His personality is just the kind that exudes friendliness and geniality.

His record as the supreme commander of the Allied Forces in Europe in World War II gave him a prestige broader than any other visiting dignitary could enjoy today in those same countries.

WHEN ALL IS SAID and done, the value of the trip comes in its after-effects.

Militarily it is important for the United States to maintain air bases in Morocco and Spain. It is important to have allies in countries like Pakistan, Iran and Turkey and it is vital to the future of Southeast Asia for the United States and India to be getting closer together in an economic as well as a political sense.

Much has been said, Incidentally, about the so-called change in American policy toward India. Nehru for the last few years has been pursuing a "neutralist" course.

It has been argued that America finally decided in recent months not to be hostile to neutralism. Quite the opposite has happened. It is India itself which has awakened to the dangers of neutralism.

While public expressions are restrained, few people in the free governments generally feel today that India has any illusions about the aggressive policies of the Communist block, particularly Red China.

The Peiping regime brought about the change in India's policy. America has merely taken advantage of the changed atmosphere to come closer to Nehru and the people of India.

IN A BROAD SENSE, American diplomacy has been alert and flexible and those who say that all this couldn't have happened if John Foster Dulles were still secretary of state will not find any agreement on that point from President Eisenhower himself. He knows from intimate conversations he had with Mr. Dulles that the latter favored flexible policies but felt the occasions must be timely and carefully selected.

Mr. Dulles was dedicated to the people - to - people approach which now has been developed so effectively by the President's memorable tour.

World events, reported day by day, do not spell out the long-range possibilities nor can the President's trip be appraised in terms of immediate results.

In the perspective of history the tour of Dwight Eisenhower will long be remembered as a great triumph of American idealism as symbolized by a great American.

War Against Hunger

By J. M. Roberts

If President Eisenhower could really find some means of conducting a successful "noble war" against hunger he would become a more important man to India and all Asia than Lord Clive or any other Western developers.

For centuries an overwhelming proportion of Asian people have endured a constant state of undernourishment to the point where general physical apathy is itself a major bar to improvement.

Introduction of Western sanitation and health methods has merely served to heighten the food problem by increasing the birth rate and extending age averages.

Indeed, the earth itself has been debilitated by the vast numbers of people who have sought sustenance from it, and one of India's most urgent needs is fertilizer and fertilizer factories.

INDIA HAS under way a systematic birth control campaign and is seeking Western establishment of contraceptive factories.

In China, the Communists started a birth control campaign, but then dropped it because it ran counter to some Communist ideologies. China has been having increasing trouble over food and some people believe she fomented the border trouble with India primarily to distract the people from resulting unrest.

That's an example of how overpopulation and accompanying food shortage can produce world disturbance.

Several years ago Fairfield Osborn estimated in "The Limits Of The Earth" that 75,000 persons were being born every day. Since then there has been a jump in birth rate nearly everywhere. Some say the figure is now more than 100,000, with more than half of this in Red China alone. It is estimated that India will soon have half a billion people, and China eight hundred million.

THE PROBLEM is the same throughout Southeast Asia, where the newly independent countries, with the exception of standoffish Indonesia, are particular responsibilities of the West.

So far, in this area, strong efforts to raise living standards are not producing economies which even keep pace with expanding populations. This problem was the subject of a special report to the recent meeting of the Colombo Plan nations. The outlook was rather discouraging.

Food, like money, cannot just be given away, or sold cut rate, without affecting the world market and damaging someone else's trade. Prices and already-established distribution patterns must make slow adjustments.

The Communists, although they have never done it nor shown any signs of really wanting to — as witness the developing caste system in Russia — claim to be able to give to everyone equal shares of what is available.

This is one of their basic appeals to the hungry nations, where people are willing to grasp at any straw, and see any change as good.

Research In Highway Disease

The suggestion that Ohio look into the possibility of setting up a research center on traffic safety is not far-fetched.

Slaughter on the highways is one of the big headaches of our time. Progress has been made toward easing it, with the number of fatalities per passenger-miles traveled dropping steadily every year. This has been achieved through the obvious approaches—better law enforcement and highly organized publicity campaigns directed against the obvious causes of traffic fatalities and better engineering to eradicate the obvious flaws in road-building.

But the traffic toll remains high in actual number of lives lost and many safety experts realize the obvious techniques are good only to a point. It is time to dig deeper, to find some of the hidden factors in highway tragedy to refine the methods of correcting them.

Just as research is used to discover the causes and then the cures of disease, research is probably the only key to future success in traffic safety.

When superhighways were being pioneered, the consensus was that they should be as straight and flat as possible. But research has shown this provides a monotony that can lull the motorist into boredom and dangerously dull his senses. So engineers now build curves and hills into roads, to keep drivers alert.

Some clues have been discovered in safety studies that research could project into life-saving knowledge. Why are some makes of cars involved in more fatal crashes than others? What are the personality factors that make some drivers more accident-prone than others? Why do a few people become more alert and careful after they have had a couple of drinks when most become dangerous?

Ohio, with its dense population, would be an ideal place to try to find the answers to such questions. By adopting the research approach to traffic safety, it could not only serve its own citizens but blaze a trail for the rest of the nation.

Ferguson Runs A Gravy Train

One thing which can be said in State Treasurer Joseph Ferguson's favor is that when he runs a gravy train he does not try to slip by with the engine throttled down.

His free-swinging handling of sales tax stamp distribution is the case in point.

He had barely warmed the chair in his new office early this year when he announced a wholesale shakeup in agents "to spread the gravy around" among what he called "deserving Democrats."

Now he has announced a boost in commissions. He concedes that the bulk of the new gravy will go to about 50 agents, apparently the most "deserving."

Mr. Ferguson listed three principal reasons for his decision: The old rate does not take into account higher operating costs; the new, smaller stamps will be a bigger nuisance, and the new commission rates will help offset the revenue that agents lost when the Legislature did away with stamps on auto sales.

The motives prompt some reflections.

It is doubtful the Legislature ever considered the stamp agencies as profit enterprises of a magnitude requiring "cost-of-living" adjustments. They were set up as a practical means of getting the stamps into retailers' hands.

It is difficult to see how the size of stamps can affect the agents' costs.

It is questionable that the Legislature intended to compensate agents for the loss of revenue involved in abandoning auto sales stamps. The purpose of the change was to save the state money.

Above all, it is noteworthy that the new commissions will not apply to county treasurers or court clerks, whose income from stamp sales goes into public funds, even though their costs would logically be as high as other agents'.

Mr. Ferguson has been fighting a running battle with Gov. DiSalle over the latter's efforts to abolish the stamps entirely.

Prison Would Be Worse Than Nothing

New York's Gov. Rockefeller, whose utterances make news these days, has lent his signature to a recommendation for putting 15-year-old boys in prison. The recommendation grew out of a study of murder and other juvenile violence in New York City.

The same study recommended easing labor laws to let boys of 14 and 15 go to work, centralized probation service, suitable places for parolees with no homes to go to, establishing a Bureau of Youth Information and other proposals to ease a problem that has been a nightmare for New York City.

There is an oddity common to all the proposals being made about juvenile delinquency in New York City. They are designed to deal with problems that arise after the damage has been done to the youngsters whose misbehavior causes the problem in the first place. They are too late.

No one is suggesting that New York City should bar the further influx of immigrants until the hundreds of thousands now milling about helplessly in its slums can be housed and assimilated into the city's life.

No one is suggesting that the interest of the political machine that runs New York City is being put ahead of the welfare of New Yorkers who cannot be guaranteed police protection because the votes of people who cannot be controlled are more important than the votes of people who need protection.

And no one ever is going to suggest that the root of the trouble is the over-congestion of the city, itself-too many people forced to live too close together in an environment that would challenge the mental resources of citizens with more extensive education and stronger social backgrounds.

It is possible that some of the consequences of overcrowding might be concealed by putting children in prison at an earlier age and by letting boys go to work in their early teens. But it is not to be imagined that juvenile delinquency in New York City will be brought under control until there has been a basic change in the most favorable breeding place for delinquency in the United States.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Santa was lucky. He got through without a Senate inquiry, a grand jury probe, a hint from Estes Kefauver that he was a monopoly or a charge by the Federal Food Department that his whiskers had been sprayed by a chemical which endangered kiddies. But it was a tough journey this year. Outer space isn't what it used to be.

For centuries the old boy could navigate it quite alone and without fear of collisions. But this year there was no telling when he might get telescoped by guided missiles, moon rockets or falling nose cones.

"My reindeer are nervous wrecks," said Santa today, "and several times threatened a sitdown strike. "I was jittery all the way and think I deserve U.N. protective steps and a Dag Hammarskjold watch-dog committee each Christmas Eve."

"I suffered from some of the airwave scandals, too," he went on.

"Quite a few people wrote letters asking what I wanted for Christmas. Other years such things cheered me but in view of the payola situation I had a feeling these letters could be from folks who were just reminding me to ask what they wanted in their stockings. I had to be extra careful."

Santa said he had been troubled, too, by increasing skepticism. "It was a year when people found it hard to think anybody was on the level," he said.

"Some parents complained the kids believed too deeply in the hoofbeats of my deer on every roof. I thought I might have to issue a statement that often the hoofbeats had to be augmented through sound effects and that in cases where the chimneys and fireplaces were pretty small it should be clearly understood there were technical deceptions.

"Well, you should feel great now after hearing the laughter and gay chatter of all the children Christmas morning," we said.

"I hope it was the real thing and not a taped recording," he said dismally.

TV SPORTS AUTHORITIES are defending curious practice of excluding all violence from baseball and football telecasts. Yet it is the airwave folks who shriek loudest against any form of censorship. It's a laugh when TV, which telecasts every dirty tactic in pro wrestling bouts, never omitting a single detail which makes mockery of sportsmanship, holds it is wrong to let public see a ruckus in a ball park.

If Ike wrote Santa Claus he must have said: "Dear Santa: All I want from Santa Christmas Day is a big "DO NOT DISTURB" sign to hang on my White House door.

Have I been a good boy? Are you kidding? I have not only done my best to be good at home but all over Asia and Europe and it wasn't easy.

I have traveled through the wintry skies as far as you have (maybe farther) and the load I have had to carry is nothing for you to belittle. You would need more reindeer.

You should realize what I've been through this Yuletide, Santa. The famous poem says you spoke not a word but went straight to your work. With me it was tougher. I had to keep talking! I must have said a million words. And those crowds! You are smart to time your tour so you can be sure nobody is up and around.

Well, in a way we have much in common. We try to please everybody and spread good will, generosity and peace. If I failed to do as much as you with the "Ho! Ho! Hi! Hi!

Tough To Jump Against

Khrushchev Tour Rated Top Story

By Tom Henshaw

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's September tour of the United States has been chosen the biggest story of 1959 by news editors in the annual poll of The Associated Press members.

Second was the spectacular Russian moon probes — they hit it with a rocket Sept. 14, the day before Khrushchev's arrival in the U. S., and later succeeded in taking the first picture of the lunar backside.

Both events had sobering aspects for the Western world.

The Khrushchev tour gave the American people their first closeup look at their arch - enemy in the Cold War as he moved from coast-to-coast, now affable, now ominous, never indifferent.

He showed himself to be a man who could be charming, crude, witty, dour, threatening — and, most important, dangerously quick-tempered for the leader of one of the world's greatest powers.

THE VISIT enabled Americans to make a new assessment of Khrushchev and he emerged as a tough, highly competent and dangerous antagonist, far from the buffoon he has been pictured in the past.

The Russian moon probes indicated that the Russians are considerably ahead of the United States in rocketry.

The Sept. 14 rocket was the first man-made object to land on the moon and the probe of Oct. 6, equipped with a camera, was the first to orbit the moon, transmitting its picture by radio.

Dr. Fidel Castro's ouster of the Batista regime in Cuba on Jan. 1 and his troubles during the year was the editors' choice as the third top story of the year.

Castro, whose long, seemingly hopeless revolt against strongman Batista gained him world sympathy, turned admiration into disillusionment in a welter of summary executions and angry taunts at the United States.

The editors' top choices in domestic stories, Nos. 4 and 5 in the poll, had a negative quality.

THE FIRST was the steel strike, the longest (116 days) steel shutdown in history, which slowed the American economy before a government injunction sent the workers back to the mills. The strike may resume when the injunction expires in January.

Next came the TV quiz show scandals, which actually began a year early but reached a climax in 1959 when Charles VanDoren, once the nation's intellectual hero, admitted having been given the answers.

Like the top two, the sixth and seventh stories on the editors' poll were closely allied.

President Eisenhower"s growing direction of the country's foreign affairs, illustrated by his personal diplomacy jaunts through Europe, Asia and Africa, was No. 6.

But had it not been for the death Dulles, Ike probably would not have stepped into the breach. Dulles' death and the appointment of Christian Herter as his successor was No. 7.

Other choices in the editors' top 10:

8.—Vice president Nixon's tour of Russia, during which he opened the American fair in the Soviet capital and engaged in a public verbal joust with Khrushchev.

9.—Statehood for Alaska and Hawaii, which formally became the 49th and 50th states of the union when Eisenhower signed their statehood bills. They were the first new states in 47 years.

10.—The new labor relations law, the first passed by Congress since Taft - Hartley in 1947. Passed after mounting indications of corruption among organized labor's leadership, it placed added restrictions on unions, particularly their leaders.

The Top Ten

It declared that "those who believe in freedom feel betrayed," and didn't want to see Mr. Eisenhower "hobnobbing" with Gen. Franco. But this same "left-wing" newspaper cheered Prime Minister Macmillan's visit to dictator Khrushchev, ignoring the protests at the time of many exiles from the Communist-dominated countries.

Mr. Eisenhower didn't make his trip to give sanction to this or that form of government in any country. His cordial reception of Nikita Khurshchev last September and the forthcoming visit which Mr. Eisenhower will pay to the Soviet Union next spring are intended to emphasize a people-to-people relationship.

Everywhere on his trip the President referred to this theme because he knows that authoritarian forms of government are temporary and that eventually the nations of the world must inevitably find their salvation in free governments.

President Eisenhower proved an extraordinary ambassador of good will. His personality is just the kind that exudes friendliness and geniality.

His record as the supreme commander of the Allied Forces in Europe in World War II gave him a prestige broader than any other visiting dignitary could enjoy today in those same countries.

WHEN ALL IS SAID and done, the value of the trip comes in its after-effects.

Militarily it is important for the United States to maintain air bases in Morocco and Spain. It is important to have allies in countries like Pakistan, Iran and Turkey and it is vital to the future of Southeast Asia for the United States and India to be getting closer together in an economic as well as a political sense.

Much has been said, incidentally, about the so-called change in American policy toward India. Nehru for the last few years has been pursuing a "neutralist" course.

It has been argued that America finally decided in recent months not to be hostile to neutralism. Quite the opposite has happened. It is India itself which has awakened to the dangers of neutralism.

While public expressions are restrained, few people in the free governments generally feel today that India has any illusions about the aggressive policies of the Communist block, particularly Red China.

The Peiping regime brought about the change in India's policy. America has merely taken advantage of the changed atmosphere to come closer to Nehru and the people of India.

IN A BROAD SENSE, American diplomacy has been alert and flexible and those who say that all this couldn't have happened if John Foster Dulles were still secretary of state will not find any agreement on that point from President Eisenhower himself. He knows from intimate conversations he had with Mr. Dulles that the latter favored flexible policies but felt the occasions must be timely and carefully selected.

Mr. Dulles was dedicated to the people - to - people approach which now has been developed so effectively by the President's memorable tour.

World events, reported day by day, do not spell out the long-range possibilities nor can the President's trip be appraised in terms of immediate results.

In the perspective of history the tour of Dwight Eisenhower will long be remembered as a great triumph of American idealism as symbolized by a great American.

War Against Hunger

By J. M. Roberts

If President Eisenhower could really find some means of conducting a successful "noble war" against hunger he would become a more important man to India and all Asia than Lord Clive or any other Western developers.

For centuries an overwhelming proportion of Asian people have endured a constant state of undernourishment to the point where general physical apathy is itself a major bar to improvement.

Introduction of Western sanitation and health methods has merely served to heighten the food problem by increasing the birth rate and extending age averages.

Indeed, the earth itself has been debilitated by the vast numbers of people who have sought sustenance from it, and one of India's most urgent needs is fertilizer and fertilizer factories.

INDIA HAS under way a systematic birth control campaign and is seeking Western establishment of contraceptive factories.

In China, the Communists started a birth control campaign, but then dropped it because it ran counter to some Communist ideologies. China has been having increasing trouble over food and some people believe she fomented the border trouble with India primarily to distract the people from resulting unrest.

That's an example of how overpopulation and accompanying food shortage can produce world disturbance.

Several years ago Fairfield Osborn estimated in "The Limits Of The Earth" that 75,000 persons were being born every day. Since then there has been a jump in birth rate nearly everywhere. Some say the figure is now more than 100,000, with more than half of this in Red China alone. It is estimated that India will soon have half a billion people, and China eight hundred million.

THE PROBLEM is the same throughout Southeast Asia, where the newly independent countries, with the exception of standoffish Indonesia, are particular responsibilities of the West.

So far, in this area, strong efforts to raise living standards are not producing economies which even keep pace with expanding populations. This problem was the subject of a special report to the recent meeting of the Colombo Plan nations. The outlook was rather discouraging.

Food, like money, cannot just be given away, or sold cut rate without affecting the world market and damaging someone else's trade. Prices and already-established distribution patterns must make slow adjustments.

The Communists, although they have never done it nor shown any signs of really wanting to — as witness the developing caste system in Russia — claim to be able to give to everyone equal shares of what is available.

This is one of their basic appeals to the hungry nations, where people are willing to grasp at any straw, and see any change as good.

West Virginia Has Only One Traffic Death

By The Associated Press

West Virginia may have had the safest Christmas weekend in its history.

Only one man was reported killed in a road accident from 6 p. m. Thursday until last midnight.

Another record was definitely set in the state: this was for unseasonably warm weather. The 71 degrees in Charleston and Huntington yesterday were the highest ever known. Other cities in all sections had temperatures in the 60s.

The two unusual characteristics of the long Christmas weekend could very well have been related. The absence of ice and snow and poor visibility eliminated some of the typical causes of accidents.

The one traffic death reported happened Friday night on W. Va. 15 in Clay County. Jesse Starcher, a 44-year-old coal miner from Ivydale, was alone in his car. He was crushed when it plunged over an embankment and overturned.

Lt. T. A. Welty of the State Police Accident Prevention Bureau said this fatality, if it proved to be the only one, probably would stand as the lowest on record. He was tentative because a complete check of the files had not been made.

The Christmas weekend last year took four lives on the roads. It is traditionally one of the most dangerous periods for driving, because of the drinking, bad weather conditions and heavy traffic.

The spring-like warmth was not expected to last long into the week. Much colder temperatures were predicted or tonight.

There had been another accidental death in the state during the long weekend. A young boy from Clendenin died Christmas Day from loss of blood while en route to a hospital.

John Keaton, 13, had been hit in the leg while out hunting, when a gun leaning against a tree fell and went off.

Then one would go through Colombia, Brazil, across the ocean to Africa, starting on land again in French Equatorial Africa, and traveling on through Belgian Congo, Kenya, and Somaliland, across another span of ocean, then hitting the island of Sumatra, and finally the Indonesian Islands.

Statement By Rockefeller Dealt Only With Cold Facts

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON

It's a study in frigidity.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's statement Saturday—that he will not be a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination—was a cold piece of business.

There was nothing friendly in it toward Vice President Richard M. Nixon or the professional Republican politicians.

Although Rockefeller's withdrawal leaves Nixon unopposed for their party's presidential nomination, the governor never mentioned Nixon's name.

Rockefeller, in fact, didn't even promise to support the Republican Party or its nominee. The most he was willing to say was that he expects to. Newsmen tried to get him to say specifically Sunday whether he would back Nixon. But he replied he would not go beyond his statement Saturday which said, in part, "I expect to support the nominees, as well as the program, of the party in 1960."

Further, it is possible to read into Rockefeller's words the idea he will be a critical thorn to both the Republican bosses and the Eisenhower administration before the Republican convention opens in Chicago July 25.

Rockefeller, in stepping aside, at no place indicated he felt the majority of rank-and-file Republicans preferred Nixon over him or even that he wouldn't have a chance against Nixon if he did oppose him.

He put his reason for withdrawing squarely on the "great majority of those (Republicans) who will control" the convention.

This is what he said, in the sequence of his thinking:

1. The majority of professionals don't want a contest among Republicans for the nomination.

2. Therefore, in order to overcome the opposition of the pros to him, he'd have to give the rank - and - file Republicans a chance to choose between him and Nixon by going into state primaries.

3. But this would take up so much of his time and energy he couldn't properly fulfill his obligations to the people of New York who elected him to do a job as governor.

In the past few months Rockefeller, while whisking around the country to appraise his chances, was critical a number of times of the Eisenhower administration.

That he may continue to be now, from the sidelines, can be read into this part of his statement:

He listed the various issues facing the country, at home and abroad, and then said: "I will contribute all I can" toward a "profound and continuous act of national self-examination."

He said: "I shall speak with full freedom and vigor on these issues that confront our nation and the world."

Nixon now looks like a sure-shot for the Republican presidential nomination. But the future is unpredicted. And Rockefeller did not rule himself out as a possibility.

He said he would not be a candidate for the nomination. But he didn't say—as he did in the case of the vice presidency—he would not accept the nomination if it is offered to him.

So, if somehow Nixon gets sidetracked, Rockefeller is still available.

Man Purchases Fire Engine To Make Sure

ALLAMUCHY, N. J. (AP) — Advertising executive Robert Conahay feels he has taken a very practical step in protecting his large estate here from the danger of fire.

He bought a fire engine.

The 19-year-old hook and ladder truck is 80 feet long and is complete with 250 feet of hose and other equipment.

The engine formerly belonged to the Newton Fire Department. Conahay bought it third hand for an undisclosed amount after an auto sales dealer purchased it at a public auction.

Prior to the advent of the automobile, the iorn and steel industry in the U. S. received one of its biggest "shots in the arm" in 1850 when women's hoop skirts came into vogue. Iron and steel mills sold thousands of tons of crinoline wire to American dressmakers.

Hen Stands Ground And Outlasts Train

She decided to make her nest between the siding tracks of the Peoria & Eastern Railroad.

In a two-day period during her setting time, at least a dozen train cars were "switched" over the track above her. But she stayed.

Now John McKinley has his Bantam back, plus eight chicks, all that hatched.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Coming here on a bus to get a marriage license, Uriah Bell and Barbara Leviston of Detroit persuaded another rider, the Rev. George Maize of Knoxville, Tenn., to stop over and marry them three days later.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado football linebacker Walt Klinker ran into one obstacle he couldn't handle — an ambulance. Klinker was rushing the passer in a dummy scrimmage. His momentum carried him beyond the passer and head first into the back of a parked ambulance. Klinker, a sophomore, smashed in the ambulance door.

Boy Injured Slightly In Bike-Auto Mishap

An 11-year-old received brush burns Sunday afternoon when his bicycle struck the side of a stopped car at E. 5th and Walnut Sts., police reported.

It was one of two mishaps over the weekend and brought to 10 the total since the start of the long holiday weekend Thursday noon.

Paul Edmund Allen, 46, 323 Blakeley St., told police he had started to make a right turn at 5th and Walnut Sts. when he heard brakes screeching and stopped his car.

The youngster, Larry Roy Headly, 211 W. 7th St., came down the E. 5th St. grade too fast to get stopped, Allen told police, and passed his 1959 foreign auto on the right side.

A crash at 10 a. m. Saturday on Lisbon St. damaged a car driven by Andrew M. Smith, 74, of 717 Sophia St. and a 1959 station wagon driven by William Kozel Jr., 22, of Lisbon St. Ext., police said.

Youth Awaits Hearing As Aftermath Of Crash

A Chester youth is scheduled for a hearing this afternoon before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland as the aftermath of a traffic accident early Friday morning in Newell.

William T. Mackall, 16, of Park Pl. will be arraigned on a charge of reckless driving. His auto sideswiped three parked cars on Grant St. in Newell at 3:30 a. m. Friday.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said the youth was driving north on Grant St. when his 1956 auto struck parked cars owned by Mary B. Cline of New Cumberland Route 2 and Dewaine Staley and Vernon E. Betteridge, both of Grant St.

Deputies said the youth's auto was demolished. They listed $250 damage to the New Cumberland area woman's car, $400 to Staley's and $300 to Betteridge's car.

Mackall suffered contusions of the nose and was treated at City Hospital at about 5:50 a. m. after first being taken to a funeral home in New Cumberland, where an ambulance was obtained.

Wellsville Man Figures In Yellow Creek Mishap

A car driven by a Wellsville man struck the rear of another auto on Route 7 below Yellow Creek Sunday night at 9:30, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Paul E. Orr, 23, of 1201 Commerce St. struck the left rear of a car driven by J. L. Heckathorn, 31, of Toronto R. D. 2 about two miles south of the junction of Routes 7 and 213.

Motorist, 21, Injured In Columbiana Mishap

A Columbiana driver was injured when his car went over an embankment on Route 344 early Sunday morning in one of three weekend mishaps reported by the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

William Hutton, 21, of Cross St., Columbiana, suffered a fractured right arm when his 1956 sedan veered from the road after he lost control on a curve a half mile west of Columbiana at 12:05 a. m. yesterday.

John C. DeFilippo, 20, of 1215 Clover St., Wellsville, was cited after a collision on Route 30 by Hoge's Restaurant Saturday night at 11:40.

Officers said DeFilippo pulled out from the restaurant drive into the path of a car operated by Dennis Allen Fleming, 17, of Youngstown. Both cars received minor damage, the patrol said. DeFilippo was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

A car driven by Glenn Holdcraft, 32, of Sycamore R. D. 3 struck and killed a deer on Route 30 about a half mile north of Apples Corners yesterday afternoon at 5:15. The front of the auto was damaged, officers said.

Rockefeller

is up in the air. Backers of each of the actual or potential candidates—they include Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass), Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn), Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo), Johnson, California's Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown and Adlai E. Stevenson—can be counted upon to argue that their man is just the one to beat Nixon.

Some of the Democratic talk that Nixon would be easier to defeat than Rockefeller has died down since polls showed Nixon faring well. But some of it persists. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1956, told a TV audience Sunday that Democrats will be more united against Nixon than they would have been against Rockefeller, whom Kefauver described as more liberal.

Boy Injured Slightly In Bike-Auto Mishap

An 11-year-old received brush burns Sunday afternoon when his bicycle struck the side of a stopped car at E. 5th and Walnut Sts., police reported.

It was one of two mishaps over the weekend and brought to 10 the total since the start of the long holiday weekend Thursday noon.

Paul Edmund Allen, 46, 323 Blakeley St., told police he had started to make a right turn at 5th and Walnut Sts. when he heard brakes screeching and stopped his car.

The youngster, Larry Roy Headly, 211 W. 7th St., came down the E. 5th St. grade too fast to get stopped, Allen told police, and passed his 1959 foreign auto on the right side.

A crash at 10 a. m. Saturday on Lisbon St. damaged a car driven by Andrew M. Smith, 74, of 717 Sophia St. and a 1959 station wagon driven by William Kozel Jr., 22, of Lisbon St. Ext., police said.

Youth Awaits Hearing As Aftermath Of Crash

A Chester youth is scheduled for a hearing this afternoon before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland as the aftermath of a traffic accident early Friday morning in Newell.

William T. Mackall, 16, of Park Pl. will be arraigned on a charge of reckless driving. His auto sideswiped three parked cars on Grant St. in Newell at 3:30 a. m. Friday.

Hancock County sheriff's deputies said the youth was driving north on Grant St. when his 1956 auto struck parked cars owned by Mary B. Cline of New Cumberland Route 2 and Dewaine Staley and Vernon E. Betteridge, both of Grant St.

Deputies said the youth's auto was demolished. They listed $250 damage to the New Cumberland area woman's car, $400 to Staley's and $300 to Betteridge's car.

Mackall suffered contusions of the nose and was treated at City Hospital at about 5:50 a. m. after first being taken to a funeral home in New Cumberland, where an ambulance was obtained.

Wellsville Man Figures In Yellow Creek Mishap

A car driven by a Wellsville man struck the rear of another auto on Route 7 below Yellow Creek Sunday night at 9:30, according to the Wintersville State Highway Patrol.

Officers said a car driven by Paul E. Orr, 23, of 1201 Commerce St. struck the left rear of a car driven by J. L. Heckathorn, 31, of Toronto R. D. 2 about two miles south of the junction of Routes 7 and 213.

Motorist, 21, Injured In Columbiana Mishap

A Columbiana driver was injured when his car went over an embankment on Route 344 early Sunday morning in one of three weekend mishaps reported by the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

William Hutton, 21, of Cross St., Columbiana, suffered a fractured right arm when his 1956 sedan veered from the road after he lost control on a curve a half mile west of Columbiana at 12:05 a. m. yesterday.

John C. DeFilippo, 20, of 1215 Clover St., Wellsville, was cited after a collision on Route 30 by Hoge's Restaurant Saturday night at 11:40.

Officers said DeFilippo pulled out from the restaurant drive into the path of a car operated by Dennis Allen Fleming, 17, of Youngstown. Both cars received minor damage, the patrol said. DeFilippo was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

A car driven by Glenn Holdcraft, 32, of Sycamore R. D. 3 struck and killed a deer on Route 30 about a half mile north of Apples Corners yesterday afternoon at 5:15. The front of the auto was damaged, officers said.

is up in the air. Backers of each of the actual or potential candidates—they include Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass), Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn), Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo), Johnson, California's Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown and Adlai E. Stevenson—can be counted upon to argue that their man is just the one to beat Nixon.

Some of the Democratic talk that Nixon would be easier to defeat than Rockefeller has died down since polls showed Nixon faring well. But some of it persists. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the Democratic vice presidential nominee in 1956, told a TV audience Sunday that Democrats will be more united against Nixon than they would have been against Rockefeller, whom Kefauver described as more liberal.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell; Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Republican leader in the House; Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, Morton, Secretary of the Interior Fred A. Seaton, Sen. Train Pushed Into Sound By Massive Earth Slides

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Two massive earth slides in the space of 20 minutes pushed part of a crack 13-car passenger train into Puget Sound 12 miles north of here Sunday.

Ten persons—six of them crew members—were injured, none seriously.

The Great Northern Railway's Empire Builder, bound for Chicago with 188 passengers aboard, was about 30 minutes out of Seattle when the first slide struck. It derailed a four-unit diesel locomotive.

Twenty minutes later, with help already on the scene, another slide again slammed into the diesel units.

It carried the diesel units and a baggage-mail car out into the Sound. A mail-dormitory car was left teetering on a seawall.

Strung out along the tracks were six other cars, all derailed but still standing upright. Four pullman cars and a diner stayed on the tracks.

Coast Guard vessels based here had reached the scene before the second slide struck. Four train crew members ran for their lives and managed to scramble into a Coast Guard boat only seconds before the earth, mud and debris rumbled across the tracks.

About 700 feet of track was covered with debris up to 15 feet deep. Some 650 feet of track was ripped up. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Man Flees Honor Camp In Zanesville District

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Melvin Frank Lowe, 38, serving a 10-to-25-year sentence for armed robbery, has escaped from Zanesville honor camp, Ohio Penitentiary Warden Beryle C. Sacks said today.

Lowe, sentenced from Lorain County in June, 1949, was found missing in a Sunday midnight check at the honor camp, the warden said. He was transferred to the camp from the penitentiary Oct. 30.

It will be operated under supervision of the Diocesan Catholic Charities.

Subway, Bus Strike Looms

NEW YORK (AP)—Four thousand transportation workers have authorized a strike aimed at halting all subways and buses in the city the minute 1960 arrives.

However, the TWU has never before struck the subway system. It has threatened to often and has taken countless strike votes. The union last stopped the operation of private bus lines in 1953. But it was another union—the Motormen's Benevolent Assn., now merged with the TWU—that conducted an eight-day subway strike in December 1957.

A special committee set up by Mayor Robert F. Wagner meets today with representatives of the union, the Transit Authority and seven private bus lines to try to avert a strike. At the same time, another committee of the city department heads meet to talk about how to handle such a strike should it come.

"The city will be prepared to meet any eventuality that might arise in this situation," said Wagner.

The strike would involve approximately 38,000 workers on the subways, city - owned buses and private bus lines. They want a 15 per cent increase in wages, which now range from $2.04½ to $2.72 an hour.

The union's contract with the Transit Authority expires Jan. 1, but its pact with the private bus lines ended Dec. 1. That contract has been extended twice to expire at the same time as the transit authority pact.

Britain Hunts Maniac Killer

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) Police seeking the maniac killer who beheaded a girl with a kitchen knife warned today that "no woman in Britain is safe."

Since last Wednesday night, when the headless body of 29-year-old Sidney Stephanie Baird was found in a YWCA hostel, the biggest manhunt in the history of Britain's industrial Midlands has steadily built up.

"We are looking for a killer who may strike again at any moment," said a senior police officer.

Police toured the city with loudspeaker cars appealing for clues, flashed messages on movie screens, and broadcast to football crowds.

Sunday night, 27-year-old Evelyn Peake said she believed she came face to face with a blood-soaked killer as he was making his escape.

Mrs. Peake got off a bus near her home 250 yards from the YWCA hostel.

"I saw a young man slumped against a wall of a house," she said.

"At first I thought he was drunk. But by the light of a street lamp I could see he appeared to be in pain.

"I walked over to him with two men. One of them said to him: 'Blimey mate, what have you been doing?' "

The man — his face was dirty and his clothing blood-stained — replied: "I fell down in a garden. I'll be all right when I get on a bus."

The woman said the man lurched onto the bus, which carried him away.

Air Force Lieutenant Killed When Cars Hit

CLAYSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Two autos collided Sunday on U.S. 40 about three miles west of this southwestern Pennsylvania community, killing a 23-year-old Air Force lieutenant.

Reds Remember Eaton On His 76th Birthday

LAC BEAUPORT, Que. (AP)—Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland industrialist, celebrated his 76th birthday here Sunday and received letters from two Soviet leaders, one of them Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Khrushchev thanked the Canadian-born capitalist for sending him records of a conference of scientists on chemical and biological warfare, sponsored by Eaton at Pugwash, Nova Scotia, last August.

It carried the diesel units and a baggage-mail car out into the Sound. A mail-dormitory car was left teetering on a seawall.

Strung out along the tracks were six other cars, all derailed but still standing upright. Four pullman cars and a diner stayed on the tracks.

Coast Guard vessels based here had reached the scene before the second slide struck. Four train crew members ran for their lives and managed to scramble into a Coast Guard boat only seconds before the earth, mud and debris rumbled across the tracks.

About 700 feet of track was covered with debris up to 15 feet deep. Some 650 feet of track was ripped up. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

It will be operated under supervision of the Diocesan Catholic Charities.

Subway, Bus Strike Looms

NEW YORK (AP)—Four thousand transportation workers have authorized a strike aimed at halting all subways and buses in the city the minute 1960 arrives.

However, the TWU has never before struck the subway system. It has threatened to often and has taken countless strike votes. The union last stopped the operation of private bus lines in 1953. But it was another union—the Motormen's Benevolent Assn., now merged with the TWU—that conducted an eight-day subway strike in December 1957.

A special committee set up by Mayor Robert F. Wagner meets today with representatives of the union, the Transit Authority and seven private bus lines to try to avert a strike. At the same time, another committee of the city department heads meet to talk about how to handle such a strike should it come.

"The city will be prepared to meet any eventuality that might arise in this situation," said Wagner.

The strike would involve approximately 38,000 workers on the subways, city - owned buses and private bus lines. They want a 15 per cent increase in wages, which now range from $2.04½ to $2.72 an hour.

The union's contract with the Transit Authority expires Jan. 1, but its pact with the private bus lines ended Dec. 1. That contract has been extended twice to expire at the same time as the transit authority pact.

Britain Hunts Maniac Killer

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) Police seeking the maniac killer who beheaded a girl with a kitchen knife warned today that "no woman in Britain is safe."

Since last Wednesday night, when the headless body of 29-year-old Sidney Stephanie Baird was found in a YWCA hostel, the biggest manhunt in the history of Britain's industrial Midlands has steadily built up.

"We are looking for a killer who may strike again at any moment," said a senior police officer.

Police toured the city with loudspeaker cars appealing for clues, flashed messages on movie screens, and broadcast to football crowds.

Sunday night, 27-year-old Evelyn Peake said she believed she came face to face with a blood-soaked killer as he was making his escape.

Mrs. Peake got off a bus near her home 250 yards from the YWCA hostel.

"I saw a young man slumped against a wall of a house," she said.

"At first I thought he was drunk. But by the light of a street lamp I could see he appeared to be in pain.

"I walked over to him with two men. One of them said to him: 'Blimey mate, what have you been doing?' "

The man — his face was dirty and his clothing blood-stained — replied: "I fell down in a garden. I'll be all right when I get on a bus."

The woman said the man lurched onto the bus, which carried him away.

Reds Remember Eaton On His 76th Birthday

LAC BEAUPORT, Que. (AP)—Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland industrialist, celebrated his 76th birthday here Sunday and received letters from two Soviet leaders, one of them Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Khrushchev thanked the Canadian-born capitalist for sending him records of a conference of scientists on chemical and biological warfare, sponsored by Eaton at Pugwash, Nova Scotia, last August.

Jelliffe Selected As Jury Foreman

CLEVELAND (AP)—Russell W. Jelliffe, a member of the executive committee of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and founder of Karamu House, has been appointed foreman of the Cuyahoga County grand jury.

The appointment was made Sunday by Common Pleas Judge Charles W. White for the coming term of Criminal Court.

Jelliffe, a native of Mansfield and graduate of Oberlin College, founded Karamu House along with his wife, Rowena, in 1915. He has been its executive director ever since.

Karamu House is an interracial social settlement house, which emphasizes such cultural activities as dramatics and folk dancing.

Jelliffe also is on the board of trustees of the Cleveland Council on Human Relations and was active in establishing the Cleveland Metropolitan Housing Authority, The Cleveland Urban League, and the Community Relations Bureau.

Robert Hall Heads Musicians' Union

John Ward, vice president and business agent; Frank Craven, secretary-treasurer; George Grafton, sergeant-at-arms; Edward Beaver, Charles Sanfilippo, Anthony Tridico, Richard Rayle and Paul Ramer, Executive Board members, and George Miller, Richard Golden and Thomas Colella, trustees.

At the meeting at which officers were named, George Miller, chairman of the auditing committee, gave a report on the annual check on the books.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 47 and going through the menopause. My husband is the type who thinks this is a lot of bunk. He, however, is constantly under the doctor's care, reads medical books like most people read novels, and has a technical name for every one of his precious aches and pains.

He says menopause is natural and millions of women go through it with no trouble whatever. The "complainers" are only trying to drum up sympathy.

According to him, childbirth is a cinch, too. His mother had six with no doctor present — just a midwife. His theory is that physical changes in a woman are a part of nature and were designed by nature to be painless; modern women who complain are only trying to get attention or sympathy from men.

Will you please set him straight? —MERE WOMAN.

Dear Mere Woman: Humans vary. Some women have been known to give birth in the back of a sedan with a sneeze but most of us sweat it out in the labor room.

The menopause hits certain women hard while others breeze through without so much as a hot flash. Any doctor will tell you that the physical and emotional changes which accompany menopause are genuine and not a conspiracy to get sympathy. Medical science has developed new drugs in the last few years which have proved a Godsend to women who have difficulty.

Since that insensitive clunk you're married to likes to read medical books, present him with one on this subject. He needs educating.

Ashamed Of Gramp

Dear Ann: I'm 16 and miserable. The reason — I'm ashamed to invite the kids over or have a fellow pick me up for a date at home because of my grandfather who lives with us.

Gramp is 82 and forgetful. He never can remember where his teeth or his glasses are. He often forgets to put on his pants. Every night he sits in the living room (in his underwear) watching TV.

I've complained to Mom but she says older people should have special privileges and respect. I can see HER point but she doesn't see MINE. Do you think it's right for a girl to have to be picked up for dates at a friend's house? What is your opinion? — EMBARRASSED.

Dear Embarrassed: I agree that older people should have respect and special privileges but putting a bathrobe on Gramp does not deny him either.

You should not be forced to meet friends outside your home and Mom is rather unimaginative not to have thought of this simple solution. So long as Gramp is neat and covered you need make no apologies for him.

Wet Blanket

Dear Ann: A good friend of mine has a 7-month-old baby. When she comes to visit for the afternoon (at my invitation) she puts the baby on the sofa or the bed and places chairs around so he won't fall off.

Almost without fail, there is a damp ring which I notice after they leave. I don't want to say anything to her because she's a sensitive person. I have a solution which removes the ring nicely but it's a bit of a job.

My husband says to tell her. If you can think of a more gentle way I'd appreciate it. — PHOEBE.

Dear Phoebe: Buy some rubber sheeting and put it under the baby. This solution is more practical than the solution that comes in a bottle.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

3,600 Students Take Part In Ecumenical Meetings

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The 18th Ecumenical Student Conference opened here today with more than 3,600 students from all parts of the world attending.

The delegates will have daily discussion subjects, termed frontiers by the conference, which will include non-Christian faiths, technological upheavals, racial problems and new nationalisms.

The conference, sponsored by the National Student Christian federation, is among the most widely representative student conferences held in the Western Hemisphere.

As the students arrived Sunday, some from the American southland told of minor racial tension.

A group of white students from a Texas university (school not identified) said their president refused permission for pre-conference interracial study groups. They said, however, they met off campus in a private home.

Delegates from Tuskegee and Stillman, Negro institutions, and Alabama Tech, which is white, said they found considerable community opposition when they met prior to the trip here.

Other discussion Sunday involved African delegates who reported a stepped-up program by Communists to recruit students for study on scholarships in Communist countries. They estimated that 2,000 Africans are now studying in Communist countries.

Although about half of the student delegates are from foreign lands, nearly all of them are attending American colleges and universities.

Charges Due After Rioting At Workhouse

The nine were singled out from among 80 inmates of a second floor dormitory who held a guard hostage, burned mattresses and clothing and broke windows in the hour-long disturbance.

George White, 20, who police said was the ringleader in the riot, said the demonstration was against lack of seasoning in food and he added he was dissatisfied with general conditions.

The guard, Paul Blackburn, 27, of Columbus was on duty on the second floor when the riot broke out. Police said he was badly beaten before police, sheriff's deputies and State Highway Patrolmen were able to rescue him. They fired tear gas bombs into the area to quell the outbreak.

Blackburn was treated at a hospital and released.

Sgt. Carl Boyer, on duty on the first floor, said all was quiet until suddenly a flaming mattress was hurled down a stairway.

"I saw six prisoners gathered around the top of the stairs," he related, "throwing boots, cans, spittoons and anything they could get their hands on at me."

Phone Operator Averts Robbery

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Agnes Tate, night telephone operator at the Crawford Hotel, was talking with a porter at a bowling alley in South Euclid early today when she heard someone in the background saying "Act natural."

Suspecting a robbery was in progress, Miss Tate called police.

Her call enabled University Heights and South Euclid police to capture two safe crackers in the act of looting The Mayflower Lanes.

Harold said there had been three gunmen, but one of them fled before police arrived.

Jelliffe Selected As Jury Foreman

CLEVELAND (AP)—Russell W. Jelliffe, a member of the executive committee of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and founder of Karamu House, has been appointed foreman of the Cuyahoga County grand jury.

The appointment was made Sunday by Common Pleas Judge Charles W. White for the coming term of Criminal Court.

Jelliffe, a native of Mansfield and graduate of Oberlin College, founded Karamu House along with his wife, Rowena, in 1915. He has been its executive director ever since.

Karamu House is an interracial social settlement house, which emphasizes such cultural activities as dramatics and folk dancing.

Jelliffe also is on the board of trustees of the Cleveland Council on Human Relations and was active in establishing the Cleveland Metropolitan Housing Authority, The Cleveland Urban League, and the Community Relations Bureau.

Robert Hall Heads Musicians' Union

John Ward, vice president and business agent; Frank Craven, secretary-treasurer; George Grafton, sergeant-at-arms; Edward Beaver, Charles Sanfilippo, Anthony Tridico, Richard Rayle and Paul Ramer, Executive Board members, and George Miller, Richard Golden and Thomas Colella, trustees.

At the meeting at which officers were named, George Miller, chairman of the auditing committee, gave a report on the annual check on the books.

Hall commented that one of the biggest tasks facing the new officers is a continuing fight against imported "canned music" used on many television shows. It is causing serious unemployment among studio musicians in Hollywood and New York, he said.

Bible School Attains 6,000 In Attendance

Landfried and his wife travel weekly to attend Bible School and church services. John E. Eggleton is minister.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 47 and going through the menopause. My husband is the type who thinks this is a lot of bunk. He, however, is constantly under the doctor's care, reads medical books like most people read novels, and has a technical name for every one of his precious aches and pains.

He says menopause is natural and millions of women go through it with no trouble whatever. The "complainers" are only trying to drum up sympathy.

According to him, childbirth is a cinch, too. His mother had six with no doctor present — just a midwife. His theory is that physical changes in a woman are a part of nature and were designed by nature to be painless; modern women who complain are only trying to get attention or sympathy from men.

Will you please set him straight? —MERE WOMAN.

Dear Mere Woman: Humans vary. Some women have been known to give birth in the back of a sedan with a sneeze but most of us sweat it out in the labor room.

The menopause hits certain women hard while others breeze through without so much as a hot flash. Any doctor will tell you that the physical and emotional changes which accompany menopause are genuine and not a conspiracy to get sympathy. Medical science has developed new drugs in the last few years which have proved a Godsend to women who have difficulty.

Since that insensitive clunk you're married to likes to read medical books, present him with one on this subject. He needs educating.

Ashamed Of Gramp

Dear Ann: I'm 16 and miserable. The reason — I'm ashamed to invite the kids over or have a fellow pick me up for a date at home because of my grandfather who lives with us.

Gramp is 82 and forgetful. He never can remember where his teeth or his glasses are. He often forgets to put on his pants. Every night he sits in the living room (in his underwear) watching TV.

I've complained to Mom but she says older people should have special privileges and respect. I can see HER point but she doesn't see MINE. Do you think it's right for a girl to have to be picked up for dates at a friend's house? What is your opinion? — EMBARRASSED.

Dear Embarrassed: I agree that older people should have respect and special privileges but putting a bathrobe on Gramp does not deny him either.

You should not be forced to meet friends outside your home and Mom is rather unimaginative not to have thought of this simple solution. So long as Gramp is neat and covered you need make no apologies for him.

Wet Blanket

Dear Ann: A good friend of mine has a 7-month-old baby. When she comes to visit for the afternoon (at my invitation) she puts the baby on the sofa or the bed and places chairs around so he won't fall off.

Almost without fail, there is a damp ring which I notice after they leave. I don't want to say anything to her because she's a sensitive person. I have a solution which removes the ring nicely but it's a bit of a job.

My husband says to tell her. If you can think of a more gentle way I'd appreciate it. — PHOEBE.

Dear Phoebe: Buy some rubber sheeting and put it under the baby. This solution is more practical than the solution that comes in a bottle.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

3,600 Students Take Part In Ecumenical Meetings

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The 18th Ecumenical Student Conference opened here today with more than 3,600 students from all parts of the world attending.

The delegates will have daily discussion subjects, termed frontiers by the conference, which will include non-Christian faiths, technological upheavals, racial problems and new nationalisms.

The conference, sponsored by the National Student Christian federation, is among the most widely representative student conferences held in the Western Hemisphere.

As the students arrived Sunday, some from the American southland told of minor racial tension.

A group of white students from a Texas university (school not identified) said their president refused permission for pre-conference interracial study groups. They said, however, they met off campus in a private home.

Delegates from Tuskegee and Stillman, Negro institutions, and Alabama Tech, which is white, said they found considerable community opposition when they met prior to the trip here.

Other discussion Sunday involved African delegates who reported a stepped-up program by Communists to recruit students for study on scholarships in Communist countries. They estimated that 2,000 Africans are now studying in Communist countries.

Although about half of the student delegates are from foreign lands, nearly all of them are attending American colleges and universities.

Charges Due After Rioting At Workhouse

The nine were singled out from among 80 inmates of a second floor dormitory who held a guard hostage, burned mattresses and clothing and broke windows in the hour-long disturbance.

George White, 20, who police said was the ringleader in the riot, said the demonstration was against lack of seasoning in food and he added he was dissatisfied with general conditions.

The guard, Paul Blackburn, 27, of Columbus was on duty on the second floor when the riot broke out. Police said he was badly beaten before police, sheriff's deputies and State Highway Patrolmen were able to rescue him. They fired tear gas bombs into the area to quell the outbreak.

Blackburn was treated at a hospital and released.

Sgt. Carl Boyer, on duty on the first floor, said all was quiet until suddenly a flaming mattress was hurled down a stairway.

"I saw six prisoners gathered around the top of the stairs," he related, "throwing boots, cans, spittoons and anything they could get their hands on at me."

The workhouse is three miles south of here along Ohio 104.

Judging To Continue For Lighting Contest

Judging will continue tonight and Tuesday night in the Christmas home-lighting contest being sponsored by the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce for area residents.

Donald Wellington, chairman, said that announcement of the winners will be made Wednesday. Six home-owners have entered.

Winners will receive a color photograph of their home and the first place winner will be entered in the General Electric Co.'s $5,000 nationwide contest.

They include: James Means, superintendent; Mrs. Lena Fiber, assistant superintendent and treasurer; Mrs. Pearl Thompson, secretary; Miss Becky Welch, librarian; Mrs. Marie Wickham, chorister; Carl Reed, trustee, and Mrs. Lena Congrove, lay leader.

Phone Operator Averts Robbery

CLEVELAND (AP)—Miss Agnes Tate, night telephone operator at the Crawford Hotel, was talking with a porter at a bowling alley in South Euclid early today when she heard someone in the background saying "Act natural."

Suspecting a robbery was in progress, Miss Tate called police.

Her call enabled University Heights and South Euclid police to capture two safe crackers in the act of looting The Mayflower Lanes.

Harold said there had been three gunmen, but one of them fled before police arrived.

Fire Damages Room In Home

Fire of undetermined origin caused extensive damage to the bedroom of a Fairview St. home Sunday night at 10:22, according to city firemen, who also answered two other calls over the weekend.

Firemen said the blaze at the home of William Dorsey, 934 Fairview St., damaged the ceiling, some furniture, a door and its frame and some clothing. Two booster lines were used to battle the fire.

Firemen had to use air packs to enter the room on the second floor because of the heavy smoke.

An electrical short circuit in an outlet set fire to the baseboard and carpet at the home of Hazel McShane, 814 Cadmus St., yesterday at 8:20 a. m. The circuit was overloaded, firemen said.

Firemen were called at 12:04 a. m. yesterday to extinguish a fire in an auto on W. 8th St. at Shadyside Ave., but it was out on arrival.

An auto caught fire while parked in the basement garage of a Wellsville home over the weekend, but was shoved outside before the blaze caused any damage.

Wellsville firemen said Howard Wright, 1706 Buckeye Ave., was working on the carburetor of his car when it caught fire Saturday at 7:35 p. m.

Wright threw a blanket over the blaze and quickly shoved the vehicle outside. There was some smoke in the house and the joists were blackened slightly. Minor damage resulted to the wiring of the car, firemen said.

Youth Is Charged In Assault Action

NEW YORK (AP) — The husky blond son of a German army captain serving in this country has been charged with trying to rape a Brooklyn policeman's wife.

Detectives said the police officer's wife, Joan Sandel, 31, had just entered the foyer of their apartment while her husband Earl, 35, parked their car.

Mrs. Sandel said Mainardy followed her in, seized her, and tried to kiss her. She screamed, fought and shouted that her husband was a cop. The youth fled and Mrs. Sandel ran outside to her husband.

Together, the Sandels cruised the neighborhood in their car until they found Mainardy walking along. The teen-ager tried to break away. Mrs. Sandel phoned other police, who helped Sandel subdue the youth.

The boy's father, Capt. George Mainardy, who is attached to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Washington, said his son had never been in trouble.

Mainardy, paroled in his father's custody for a hearing Jan. 6, was charged with attempted rape and felonious assault on a policeman.

Japanese Doubt Story Of Sub Being Sunk Off Los Angeles

By FRED SAITO

TOKYO (AP) — Former Japanese submarine officers expressed doubt today that a Japanese submarine was sunk off Los Angeles harbor in World War II.

The claim of American diver Bob Bell that he had found the hulk of a Japanese sub in 60 feet of water near the Los Angeles breakwater sent naval sources here scouring records.

A spokesman for the Japanese navy's history section said, "We have not heard of any Japanese submarines lost in that area."

The Japanese Disabled Veterans Assn. reported the imperial navy records showed no submarines lost near Los Angeles "throughout the entire annals of the Pacific War."

The U.S. Navy announced Christmas Day, 1941, that a Japanese sub had been sunk off the California coast but did not give the exact location. On Christmas Eve a submarine torpedoed a lumber schooner just outside Los Angeles harbor, surfaced and then submerged again under depth charge attack by U.S. planes and ships.

Bell said he had found a book which said the Japanese submarine Sakuri went down off Los Angeles in 1941. But Japanese naval sources said that their submarines did not have names, only identifying letters and numbers.

A third son, John William Mercer, with the 4th Armored Divison at Nuremburg, Germany, was unable to spend Christmas at home.

'Little Mary Sunshine' Delightful Comic Spoof

NEW YORK (AP) — The title alone suggests a spoof and that is exactly what "Little Mary Sunshine" is — a delightful comic spoof of the operettas of the early 1920s.

The show is virtually a one-man product. Book, music and lyrics were written by Richard Besoyan, in his 20s. He says that it first came to light three years ago in an entirely different format with but six songs.

At its off-Broadway unveiling, it had 21 songs and readily rose to favor as a hit.

Loyalty Of Man's Dog Results In $50 Fine

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A dog may be a man's best friend, but loyalty of Gerald Owens' pooch resulted in a $50 fine and court costs.

The Tulsa man, carrying a shotgun in a field near here, was stopped by Game Ranger Fred Lawhorn.

"Are you hunting quail out of season?" the ranger asked.

"No, I'm just training my birddog," Owens replied.

Just then the dog ran up with a quail in its mouth, the ranger said.

Newsman Finds More Than Little Trouble

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — When Stanley Knapp decided to open a newspaper, he got more trouble than he expected.

Knapp, in the first issue of his Montpelier Graphic, said he had labor troubles, equipment troubles and transportation troubles.

And, he added, "we lost our eyeglasses at the 11th hour." He found them in time to get the paper out on schedule.

Deputy To Remember This Honest Fellow

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Orange County Deputy Randy Ferrell says he intends to remember Pearlie D. Gould on Christmas, Thanksgiving and several other times during the year.

Why?

Because:

Gould found Ferrell's wallet containing identification cards and $70 in cash, then endured several hardships in returning it.

The 75-year-old Orlando man set out walking to Ferrell's house nine miles away, but got lost and paid a man to take him home. The following night Gould started walking again. This time he got caught in a rainstorm, but finally arrived at Ferrell's house soaking wet. The deputy gave him a substantial reward.

That's High Average For Choreographer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some measure of Joe Layton's breathless activity can be taken in the announcement that he is going to do the choreography for Frank Loesser's "Greenwillow." This is the fourth musical on which he is working in the space of a year.

"That's a high average of shows for any choreographer, let alone someone in his first year on Broadway," says Layton, who was solely a dancer until he turned to other chores.

Train Wrecks Take Place In West Virginia

By The Associated Press

A track along the Ohio River remained blocked for part of today as a result of one of two Baltimore and Ohio Railroad derailments that came in quick succession in West Virginia.

The National Limited en route from St. Louis to Baltimore wrecked early Sunday morning about 17 miles east of Grafton. Ten of the approximately 300 passengers were taken to hospitals, but all were let go after treatment for minor injuries.

Four hours later and about 75 miles to the west, not far from Sistersville, the first 28 cars of a long merchandise train bound for St. Louis from New York went off the track, stopping traffic but hurting nobody.

There is only a single track along the stretch from New Martinsville to Parkerburg where this wreck happened. The B&O said clearing it would probably take until noon today.

The cause of neither derailment was explained and no estimate was put on the damage.

Two diesel locomotives and the first six of the 13 cars of the passenger train derailed while it was climbing mountain grade between Newburg and Tunnelton.

The displaced passengers boarded the Eastbound Diplomat and went on their way. The cars not in the pile up were hooked on to another locomotive and taken to their destination.

This accident occurred on a three-track section of the main line. The other two tracks were not blocked, so traffic continued. The one blocked track was cleared by midnight.

The other derailment came on a straight stretch of track. The power unit of four disels was not involved, nor the 70 cars further back.

The B&O said the train, called the High Car 97, was carrying miscellaneous merchandise, such as groceries, printing paper, fans, sewing machines, TV sets and jute waste.

Of the cars that derailed, 15 were loaded and 13 empty.

Woman Will Face Sanity Test After Shooting Children

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—A sanity hearing was scheduled today in Lorain County Common Pleas Court for a 32-year-old Sheffield Lake mother who shot and killed one of her daughters and wounded two others.

Mrs. Coleen Kistler, who has been undergoing treatment for a mental illness, was to have been committed to Apple Creek State Hospital today.

Killed by the wild shooting spree Saturday was Katherine Oda Kistler, one month old. Her sisters, Karen, 10, and Kristine, 2½, were wounded and hospitalized here.

The father, Ray Kistler, was in the garage with two sons, Eric, 12, and Franz, 8, when the shooting occurred at the family home. The mother took a revolver from a gun case and fired six shots.

Kistler said services and burial for the baby would be in Findlay, probably Tuesday.

"If Christmas hadn't been right now," said Kistler, "my wife would have been in Apple Creek State Hospital by now."

Attempts had been made to have Mrs. Kistler committed but were delayed because of the holidays, said Police Capt. Adam A. Elgart of Sheffield Lake.

U.S. Sugar Act Will Be Revised Early Next Year

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress tackles revision of the U.S. Sugar Act early next year with the big issue likely to be Fidel Castro of Cuba.

Many people in this country and in such places as Brazil, Mexico, Peru, the Dominican Republic, and the Philippines will be watching with interest and deep concern to see how the issue is met.

The Sugar Act regulates marketing quotas for domestic and foreign suppliers of sugar to the United States. This country's market is much sought after because the prices paid for sugar in the United States usually are two to three cents a pound above the world market price.

The questions about Cuba really are three:

1. Should marketing quotas for foreign areas be revised because of a belief in some quarters that Prime Minister Castro's agrarian reform and other policies will wreck sugar production in Cuba?

2. Should Cuba's quota be cut as a measure of punishing Castro? Some people consider Castro a loud mouthed dictator who hates the United States.

3. Regardless of Castro, should marketing quotas be revised to give a better break on quotas to other countries and to beet sugar producers in 22 states, and cane sugar producers in Louisiana and Florida?

There is always political pressure, from domestic and foreign areas when sugar legislation is before Congress.

And 1960 is an election year in the United States. This makes the quota demands of some beet sugar farmers in the Middle West and West sound louder, perhaps, than they would in other years.

Besides, there are important foreign policy considerations — for countries other than Cuba.

In 1956, for example, President Eisenhower promised the Philippine Republic, which got no increase at all in its quota that year, that it certainly would be considered when quotas are revised again.

Not the Steel Companies!

They're interested in more and better jobs for steelworkers

Steel companies have no under-cover plan to fire workers or speed up operations. Actually the companies' proposal to modernize local working conditions clauses in the labor contracts simply invites the Union to cooperate in ending some out-of-date, inefficient practices. These gradually develop and become "frozen" under previous contracts.

The steel companies don't want to lose valued employees. It's plain good business to keep a man on the payroll after he has been trained and has gained practical experience.

As their specific proposal to the Union points out they contemplate retraining and placement of any employees that might be affected. And they will not place undue work burdens on anybody.

The proposal to modernize local working conditions will make steelworkers' jobs more secure. Also it will provide opportunities for employees to progress.

And ultimately this proposal should create more jobs as the steel industry becomes more efficient and its markets expand.

The greatest job security is a busy, growing industry.

Joint Committee Proposed to Study the "Local Working Conditions" Question

The companies' proposal to the Union is to submit the following question to joint study by the Union and the companies, and then, if necessary, to impartial arbitration for a final and binding decision:

"What, if any, changes should be made in the local working conditions provisions of the basic labor agreements to enable the Companies to take reasonable steps to improve efficiency and eliminate waste, with due regard for the welfare of the employees involved, including: the avoidance of undue work burdens; and, to the extent practicable, the retraining and placement on available jobs in the plant, of any employees affected by such steps?"

This Is One Kind of "Local Working Condition" the Steel Companies Are Seeking to Correct

During World War II bus service was sharply curtailed. To help the employees of one department in a steel mill, management agreed to let them quit work a quarter of an hour early to wash up and catch their buses. This established a local working condition.

Although the war is long since over and normal bus service restored, the Union insists that the early quit time is an established local working condition and must be continued.

Moisture Looms As Fifth Column

Did you know that every time you cook, wash and dry the clothes, or even breathe, you are helping create a fifth column that can seriously damage your home unless you take positive steps to immobilize it?

This fifth column is moisture vapor which can blister and crack the paint on the outside of your house, damage wall plaster, warp and rot joints and studs, rust nails and even cause mortar to crumble away from the bricks.

Studies by Purdue University show that the average family of four can generate as much as 6½ gallons of moisture in the form of water vapor just by going through the routine of living in a modern home.

Breathing and perspiring release 1½ gallons in 24 hours. Doing the family laundry can add another gallon, while drying it indoors on a clothesline or in an unveted dryer can contribute 3¾ gallons. Each shower adds a half pint of vapor. Cooking three meals pumps five more pints into the air and washing the dishes brings another pint.

WHERE DO these 6¼ gallons go? Water vapor, like any other gas, seeks an area of lesser pressure — in this case, the out-of-doors. Unless there is a barrier of some sort, the water vapor enters the walls and passes right through them. When it reaches the inner surface of the exterior walls, which in the winter are much colder, the moisture condenses and soaks into the wood siding. This can cause the wood to swell, warp, crack and rot.

When no more water can be held by the siding, it will emerge on the outside and condense against the paint. If these droplets of water freeze, the expansion during freezing can crack the paint.

As the spring sun gets hotter, it will change the liquid water into a vapor and the pressure of the vapor will blister the paint. Subsequent invasions of moisture can cause the paint to crack and peel.

Now the paint no longer can perform its function of protecting the home against the onslaughts of rain, sleet and snow.

It is simple to prevent the water vapor from entering the walls and doing the damage described above. All that has to be done is to interpose an impermeable vapor barrier between the moisture and the walls.

There are two types of vapor barriers. The first consists of placing a sheeting of some type across the inner surface of the exterior walls when the house is being built. Care must be taken that this barrier is not broken by workmen installing electrical outlets, plumbing and the like.

THE SECOND type of vapor barrier consists of applying the proper kind of paint to the walls of the rooms themselves. In a new home this has the advantage of being done after all other craftsmen have finished their work, thus leaving no holes in the dike.

In older homes that were built without a mechanical vapor barrier, paint is the only solution.

What kind of paint to use? The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association says that gloss paints, oil-based primer sealers and varnishes are all good vapor barrier.

They would be followed by whatever decorative topcoat the home owner desires. In older houses, apply the primer sealer over existing flat paint or wall paper. And don't forget the inside of closets and other spaces built against exterior walls.

Even after the walls are vapor-tight, there are certain other things you should do to insure victory over moisture. Clothes dryers should be vented to the outside. After showering or mopping open the windows until the moisture is dissipated.

An exhaust fan in the kitchen not only will get rid of cooking odors, but also of the moisture created in cooking and dish washing. Attics should be ventilated with louvers of the proper size. If you have a fire place, open the damper from time to time to let moisture escape.

Some experts advise supplementing these steps by inserting vents in the outer walls to receive the pressure of the moisture trapped between the walls. There are many types of them on the market.

Many Problems Remain In 'Prefab' Home Field

By ANDY LANG
(AP) Newsfeatures

Prefabricated homes accounted for 9 per cent of all new housing starts in the United States in 1959 and home manufacturing companies expect this figure to rise in 1960.

But there is a fairly general agreement that a number of problems must still be solved before prefabrication reaches the heights long predicted for it.

A continual stumbling block in the path of more rapid progress has been that so much of the work must be done on the site, thus adding considerably to overall costs.

Most of the on-the-site mechanical costs are tied in with such things as plumbing. Some manufacturers already are beginning to offer complete mechanical cores that can be connected quickly and easily at the sites.

The industry as a whole is considering various other steps designed to make a prefabricated house exactly that — and not one in which only half of the components are manufactured in plants.

A survey by the home building industry publication, House & Home, shows that the prefabricators are aiming for nationwide distribution in 1960.

Not so long ago, home manufacturing was confined to the Midwest. It began to expand to other areas in 1959, yet only two of the numerous companies in the business have actual nationwide distribution.

This will be changed shortly, with work already started on a number of new plants throughout the country.

The strongest resistance to prefabrication is in the areas where concrete-block-stucco construction is so popular, notably in Florida and much of the Southwest.

Generally, this construction is cheaper than the frame construction used by the home manufacturers. The prefabricators' answer to this is that frame construction permits the purchasers to get better and more varied styling, a premise which gets plenty of argument from the conventional builders of concrete-block-stucco homes.

In addition to their expansion into new areas, the prefabricators are beginning to move into new kinds of housing.

Vacation houses are starting to get considerable attention, a field in which one Canadian home manufacturer has been specializing for 10 years but which most others have ignored.

Still another market being studied is that of apartment housing.

Apartment buildings are going up at a rapid rate and there appears no sign of a letup in this type of construction. But the prefabricators face even stiffer competion from conventional builders in this field than they do in one-family homes.

For that reason, most home manufacturers merely are looking into the situation right now rather than risking their money.

Steelmakers Not Worried About Orders

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steelmakers are not worrying about cancelled orders if there should be a settlement of the steel strike before the walkout is renewed, the magazine Steel said today.

"Steelmakers expect to lose some of the tonnage they've booked if a new labor contract is signed before the (Taft-Hartley) injunction expires, but the losses probably will be negligible," observed the weekly trade journal.

"As long as the automotive industry continues to press for shipments, the mills will have to quote extended deliveries - particularly on flat rolled products. And as long as deliveries remain extended, consumers won't risk drastic curtailment of their orders. They'll continue to make vague commitments for future tonnage, filling in the specifications more precisely as their needs become more apparent," it said.

Steel noted that some customers undoubtedly have placed duplicated orders, but said the producers are not worried about placing any steel released by cancellations.

The national steelmaking rate last week was 93.5 per cent, a decline of 2.8 points from the previous week, said the publication.

Electronic Music Hit

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Edmunds, of New York, composer and music librarian, says he thinks people will not like the relatively new music by electronic devices. It is "weird and shattering," he said Sunday, and "it's going to frighten them." Edmunds spoke at the annual convention of the National Assn. of Teachers of Singing.

Moisture Looms As Fifth Column

Did you know that every time you cook, wash and dry the clothes, or even breathe, you are helping create a fifth column that can seriously damage your home unless you take positive steps to immobilize it?

This fifth column is moisture vapor which can blister and crack the paint on the outside of your house, damage wall plaster, warp and rot joints and studs, rust nails and even cause mortar to crumble away from the bricks.

Studies by Purdue University show that the average family of four can generate as much as 6½ gallons of moisture in the form of water vapor just by going through the routine of living in a modern home.

Breathing and perspiring release 1½ gallons in 24 hours. Doing the family laundry can add another gallon, while drying it indoors on a clothesline or in an unveted dryer can contribute 3¾ gallons. Each shower adds a half pint of vapor. Cooking three meals pumps five more pints into the air and washing the dishes brings another pint.

WHERE DO these 6¼ gallons go? Water vapor, like any other gas, seeks an area of lesser pressure — in this case, the out-of-doors. Unless there is a barrier of some sort, the water vapor enters the walls and passes right through them. When it reaches the inner surface of the exterior walls, which in the winter are much colder, the moisture condenses and soaks into the wood siding. This can cause the wood to swell, warp, crack and rot.

When no more water can be held by the siding, it will emerge on the outside and condense against the paint. If these droplets of water freeze, the expansion during freezing can crack the paint.

As the spring sun gets hotter, it will change the liquid water into a vapor and the pressure of the vapor will blister the paint. Subsequent invasions of moisture can cause the paint to crack and peel.

Now the paint no longer can perform its function of protecting the home against the onslaughts of rain, sleet and snow.

It is simple to prevent the water vapor from entering the walls and doing the damage described above. All that has to be done is to interpose an impermeable vapor barrier between the moisture and the walls.

There are two types of vapor barriers. The first consists of placing a sheeting of some type across the inner surface of the exterior walls when the house is being built. Care must be taken that this barrier is not broken by workmen installing electrical outlets, plumbing and the like.

THE SECOND type of vapor barrier consists of applying the proper kind of paint to the walls of the rooms themselves. In a new home this has the advantage of being done after all other craftsmen have finished their work, thus leaving no holes in the dike.

In older homes that were built without a mechanical vapor barrier, paint is the only solution.

What kind of paint to use? The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association says that gloss paints, oil-based primer sealers and varnishes are all good vapor barrier.

They would be followed by whatever decorative topcoat the home owner desires. In older houses, apply the primer sealer over existing flat paint or wall paper. And don't forget the inside of closets and other spaces built against exterior walls.

Even after the walls are vapor-tight, there are certain other things you should do to insure victory over moisture. Clothes dryers should be vented to the outside. After showering or mopping open the windows until the moisture is dissipated.

An exhaust fan in the kitchen not only will get rid of cooking odors, but also of the moisture created in cooking and dish washing. Attics should be ventilated with louvers of the proper size. If you have a fire place, open the damper from time to time to let moisture escape.

Some experts advise supplementing these steps by inserting vents in the outer walls to receive the pressure of the moisture trapped between the walls. There are many types of them on the market.

Many Problems Remain In 'Prefab' Home Field

By ANDY LANG
(AP) Newsfeatures

Prefabricated homes accounted for 9 per cent of all new housing starts in the United States in 1959 and home manufacturing companies expect this figure to rise in 1960.

But there is a fairly general agreement that a number of problems must still be solved before prefabrication reaches the heights long predicted for it.

A continual stumbling block in the path of more rapid progress has been that so much of the work must be done on the site, thus adding considerably to overall costs.

Most of the on-the-site mechanical costs are tied in with such things as plumbing. Some manufacturers already are beginning to offer complete mechanical cores that can be connected quickly and easily at the sites.

The industry as a whole is considering various other steps designed to make a prefabricated house exactly that — and not one in which only half of the components are manufactured in plants.

A survey by the home building industry publication, House & Home, shows that the prefabricators are aiming for nationwide distribution in 1960.

Not so long ago, home manufacturing was confined to the Midwest. It began to expand to other areas in 1959, yet only two of the numerous companies in the business have actual nationwide distribution.

This will be changed shortly, with work already started on a number of new plants throughout the country.

The strongest resistance to prefabrication is in the areas where concrete-block-stucco construction is so popular, notably in Florida and much of the Southwest.

Generally, this construction is cheaper than the frame construction used by the home manufacturers. The prefabricators' answer to this is that frame construction permits the purchasers to get better and more varied styling, a premise which gets plenty of argument from the conventional builders of concrete-block-stucco homes.

In addition to their expansion into new areas, the prefabricators are beginning to move into new kinds of housing.

Vacation houses are starting to get considerable attention, a field in which one Canadian home manufacturer has been specializing for 10 years but which most others have ignored.

Still another market being studied is that of apartment housing.

Apartment buildings are going up at a rapid rate and there appears no sign of a letup in this type of construction. But the prefabricators face even stiffer competion from conventional builders in this field than they do in one-family homes.

For that reason, most home manufacturers merely are looking into the situation right now rather than risking their money.

Steelmakers Not Worried About Orders

CLEVELAND (AP) — Steelmakers are not worrying about cancelled orders if there should be a settlement of the steel strike before the walkout is renewed, the magazine Steel said today.

"Steelmakers expect to lose some of the tonnage they've booked if a new labor contract is signed before the (Taft-Hartley) injunction expires, but the losses probably will be negligible," observed the weekly trade journal.

"As long as the automotive industry continues to press for shipments, the mills will have to quote extended deliveries - particularly on flat rolled products. And as long as deliveries remain extended, consumers won't risk drastic curtailment of their orders. They'll continue to make vague commitments for future tonnage, filling in the specifications more precisely as their needs become more apparent," it said.

Steel noted that some customers undoubtedly have placed duplicated orders, but said the producers are not worried about placing any steel released by cancellations.

The national steelmaking rate last week was 93.5 per cent, a decline of 2.8 points from the previous week, said the publication.

Former Ohioan Dies

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Martin D. DeCastro, 29, formerly of Kent, Ohio, and last of Hayward, Calif., died Saturday, a few hours after he was injured in an auto crash. DeCastro and Kevin Rowe, 27, of Hayward, were injured when their car skidded on an icy bridge and hit an embankment near Monte Rio.

Electronic Music Hit

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Edmunds, of New York, composer and music librarian, says he thinks people will not like the relatively new music by electronic devices. It is "weird and shattering," he said Sunday, and "it's going to frighten them." Edmunds spoke at the annual convention of the National Assn. of Teachers of Singing.

Steps Taken For Quiz Into Stark's Vice

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Mark McElroy, Ohio's attorney general, and Common Pleas Judge John Rosetti confer here today on choice of a foreman for a special grand jury to probe Stark County vice.

They also are scheduled to set in motion machinery for the selection of the 15-man jury panel. McElroy's administrative assistant, Don Robertson, said Sunday night that after the jurors are chosen, subpoenas for more than 100 witnesses will be issued—probably early next week.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle ordered the county-wide investigation after receiving a complaint from a former grand jury foreman, Edward Turkle of Alliance. Turkle wrote the governor about six months ago that local authorities were proving unable to deal with the county's crime and vice.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph R. Ralston will be special prosecutor for the grand jury. He has been in charge of an investigation which has resulted in lengthy reports that will be submitted to the jurors.

Students Analyzing Own Spelling Ability

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When an insurance executive lamented that new employes have not learned how to spell while in school, high school English teacher Myron T. Seifert directed his students to write 500 business executives about the situation.

Most replied, and Seifert's students have been analyzing their own spelling ability and learning habits in terms of what the businessmen say is necessary for success. Ohio State University's educational research bureau is making a related study.

Man Sticks To His Story In Sniper Slaying Case

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Floyd E. (Gene) Hargrove reiterated in a stenographic statement Sunday night that he was the sniper whose rifle shot on Christmas Eve killed the husband of the woman he loved.

Edward R. Ostrander, Lake County prosecutor, told newsmen he was satisfied Hargrove fired the fatal bullet through a kitchen window at Charles R. Clark, 35. Ostrander, however, said he was disappointed with some details in the statement.

It was to be typed and handed to Hargrove for his signature today.

The statement was substantially the same as an oral admission Hargrove made on his 35th birthday Saturday night, Ostrander said.

County authorities acknowledged they were having trouble finding evidence to support Hargrove's account. The prosecutor said he still was mulling over a decision whether to file charges. Hargrove, divorced father of five, is being held as a material witness.

Hargrove also has told of an eight - month love affair with Clark's beautiful brunette wife, Lois, 30-year-old mother of four. She has admitted the affair, adding that her husband was not aware of it.

All day Sunday skin divers hunted in vain in Lake Erie near the spot where Hargrove said he stood when he hurled the .22-caliber rifle into the water. There were 19 Civil Defense Organization skin divers in the search at its peak. They found nothing.

"If he threw the gun into the water where he said he did, we should have found it in an hour," said John Berger, diving team leader.

Ostrander said Hargrove insisted he stood 40 feet back on the patio of the Clark home in nearby Mentor when he fired the rifle. The prosecutor pointed out the patio extends back only 15 feet.

The prosecutor said there were several other vague points in Hargrove's statement, made in a three-hour session as a stenographer transcribed the account.

As to the truthfulness of Hargrove's statement, Sheriff William B. Evans said: "I've got an open mind."

Mrs. Clark, who is under sedation, has admitted having affairs with six men in addition to Hargrove during the last five or six years, the sheriff said. Three of these men were scheduled to take polygraph tests.

If her condition permits, Mrs. Clark also will have her story tested by the machine, police said.

The slain man was a Boy Scout leader and Methodist Sunday School superintendent. In his $10,000-a-year job he was a design engineer and laison man for his electrical engineering firm on Navy contracts.

Medical Specialist Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Requiem mass will be Wednesday in St. Luke Church for Dr. F. Lambert McGannon, 56, prominent medical specialist. He died late Saturday.

CAR SMASHED. Thomas Petrie narrowly escaped death Saturday when a concrete retaining wall collapsed in Pittsburgh and crashed down on his auto. The slide also knocked over a utility pole which struck a passing car, injuring a woman rider. Petrie had been working on his car for several hours when he decided to go into his house. He had been gone only two minutes when the collapse occurred. Petrie is shown with his wife viewing the wreckage. (UPI Telephoto)

Timken Fortune Heir Marries Second Time

LANDRUM, S. C. (AP) — An heir to the Timken Roller Bearing fortune, Eligio Del Guercio Jr., is honeymooning at his 3,000-acre farm near here with his second wife, Sheila K. James, 29, a former model, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

They were married Thursday at Spartanburg, S. C. It was the second marriage for both. They plan to make their home at his farm after a three-month elephant hunting trip to Africa, Del Guercio said.

Del Guercio, 26, settled more than a million dollars on his first wife and their two children in a divorce action last February.

The bride formerly was married to Edmund H. James of Riverdale, N. Y., a sales executive for Bulova Watch Co.

Town Has Anxious Moments As Explosion Rocks Tugboat

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP) —For three hours it was touch and go in this north coast harbor town.

When the peril ended Sunday, one man was missing and believed dead, another was burned. Four were pitched into the bay by the force of the morning blast.

The downtown district of Crescent City a community of 2,750, was evacuated. Fishing boats, tied up during the holidays, lifted anchor. Many carried local residents.

The blast had the force of an earthquake in the waterfront area. It was felt as far away as Brookings, Ore., 30 miles to the north.

The missing man was Gordon McCallen, 23, of Seattle, a deck hand on the tug Celilo. The vessel belonged to the Upper Columbia River Towing Co., Portland, Ore. and had just arrived from San Francisco with the gasoline-laden barge.

Hospitalized with burns was Lawrence Hanson of Portstown, Wash.

Hanson said gas from the 97-foot barge spilled and "was sucked into the engine room through a ventilator. The engine room filled with gasoline vapor.

"The diesel engines ran wild." A coast Guard cutter pumped water on the tug while the entire Crescent City Fire Department—plus volunteers—fought shoreside fires and flash fires aboard the barge.

It had been unloading gasoline into underground pipes which carry the fuel to tanks south of the city.

Man Sticks To His Story In Sniper Slaying Case

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Floyd E. (Gene) Hargrove reiterated in a stenographic statement Sunday night that he was the sniper whose rifle shot on Christmas Eve killed the husband of the woman he loved.

Edward R. Ostrander, Lake County prosecutor, told newsmen he was satisfied Hargrove fired the fatal bullet through a kitchen window at Charles R. Clark, 35. Ostrander, however, said he was disappointed with some details in the statement.

It was to be typed and handed to Hargrove for his signature today.

The statement was substantially the same as an oral admission Hargrove made on his 35th birthday Saturday night, Ostrander said.

County authorities acknowledged they were having trouble finding evidence to support Hargrove's account. The prosecutor said he still was mulling over a decision whether to file charges. Hargrove, divorced father of five, is being held as a material witness.

Hargrove also has told of an eight - month love affair with Clark's beautiful brunette wife, Lois, 30-year-old mother of four. She has admitted the affair, adding that her husband was not aware of it.

All day Sunday skin divers hunted in vain in Lake Erie near the spot where Hargrove said he stood when he hurled the .22-caliber rifle into the water. There were 19 Civil Defense Organization skin divers in the search at its peak. They found nothing.

"If he threw the gun into the water where he said he did, we should have found it in an hour," said John Berger, diving team leader.

Ostrander said Hargrove insisted he stood 40 feet back on the patio of the Clark home in nearby Mentor when he fired the rifle. The prosecutor pointed out the patio extends back only 15 feet.

The prosecutor said there were several other vague points in Hargrove's statement, made in a three-hour session as a stenographer transcribed the account.

As to the truthfulness of Hargrove's statement, Sheriff William B. Evans said: "I've got an open mind."

Mrs. Clark, who is under sedation, has admitted having affairs with six men in addition to Hargrove during the last five or six years, the sheriff said. Three of these men were scheduled to take polygraph tests.

If her condition permits, Mrs. Clark also will have her story tested by the machine, police said.

The slain man was a Boy Scout leader and Methodist Sunday School superintendent. In his $10,000-a-year job he was a design engineer and laison man for his electrical engineering firm on Navy contracts.

He had been gone only two minutes when the collapse occurred. Petrie is shown with his wife viewing the wreckage. (UPI Telephoto)

Town Has Anxious Moments As Explosion Rocks Tugboat

CRESCENT CITY, Calif. (AP) —For three hours it was touch and go in this north coast harbor town.

When the peril ended Sunday, one man was missing and believed dead, another was burned. Four were pitched into the bay by the force of the morning blast.

The downtown district of Crescent City a community of 2,750, was evacuated. Fishing boats, tied up during the holidays, lifted anchor. Many carried local residents.

The blast had the force of an earthquake in the waterfront area. It was felt as far away as Brookings, Ore., 30 miles to the north.

The missing man was Gordon McCallen, 23, of Seattle, a deck hand on the tug Celilo. The vessel belonged to the Upper Columbia River Towing Co., Portland, Ore. and had just arrived from San Francisco with the gasoline-laden barge.

Hospitalized with burns was Lawrence Hanson of Portstown, Wash.

Hanson said gas from the 97-foot barge spilled and "was sucked into the engine room through a ventilator. The engine room filled with gasoline vapor.

"The diesel engines ran wild." A coast Guard cutter pumped water on the tug while the entire Crescent City Fire Department—plus volunteers—fought shoreside fires and flash fires aboard the barge.

It had been unloading gasoline into underground pipes which carry the fuel to tanks south of the city.

Ohio's Traffic Deaths Far Lower Than Feared

Traffic	17
Fires	4
Miscellaneous	7
Total	28

By The Associated Press

Ohio motorists had a pleasant Christmastide surprise for safety officials during the 78-hour holiday week-end just past.

Reported traffic fatalities ran much lower than the rate indicated to keep pace with predictions for the combined Christmas and New Year's weekend total. New Year's weekend drivers will have to go on quite an accident binge to push the total up to the 55 deaths forecast for the two weekends by the Highway Safety Department.

The traffic death toll from 6 p.m. Thursday, Christmas Eve, through midnight Sunday was smaller than the total for several single days around Christmas in recent years. It didn't even reach the amount recorded the previous weekend, a "normal" period of only 54 hours.

Regardless of all this, the statistics are of no consolation to survivors of the 17 who did perish on the state's highways, byways and streets the past weekend.

Along with them died four persons in fires and seven in miscellaneous accidents for an Ohio weekend fatality count of 28 in The Associated Press survey.

Staying home didn't prove safe for everyone, either. All four fire victims were killed in their homes. So were six of those killed in miscellaneous fashion, including four (two each in two instances) by carbon monoxide asphyxiation and two in falls downstairs.

There were a pair of double-fatals among the vehicle mishaps.

The fatalities:

Thursday Night

Ralph Linscott, 44, of Hemlock (Perry County), in an auto collision on Ohio 75 south of New Lexington.

Friday

Oren Duhl, 15, when fire destroyed a residence in Mad River Twp., near Dayton.

Mrs. Bessie Pestak, 75, of Independence, when she tumbled down the stairs of a relatives' home at Strongsville.

Mrs. Herman Gavin, 36, of Cleveland, when her husband's car hit a utility pole in Cleveland.

Mrs. Emma Hightower, 99, of Addyston (Hamilton County), in a fire that swept through her home.

Clifford Steelman, 57, and Thomas W. Wells, 20, in the collision of an automobile and a tractor near Harrison (Hamilton County). Steelman was riding on the rear of the tractor, and Wells was in the automobile which hit it.

Mrs. Rose Lovejoy, 35, of Toledo, bled to death after she cut her arm on a broken window glass.

Saturday

Frank Evelyn, 37, of Los Angeles, when his station wagon went out of control on rain-slick U.S. 21 south of Akron near Loyal Oak.

Joseph Johnson, 29, of Crestline, when his car hit a telephone pole near Crestline on a county road.

Herman Rath, 57, and his wife, Esther, 59, of Birmingham, Mich., in a crash at the intersection of Ohio 31 and 47 in Union County.

Mrs. Adeline Frattaroli, 52, of Barberton, of injuries suffered in an auto crash in Girard.

Ellis Thornsberry, about 20, of Plymouth, when his car went in a ditch beside a Huron County road and overturned.

Sunday

Mrs. Lillian Mitchell, about 37, and her daughter, Dolores, 14, of Cleveland, asphysiated in their four-room apartment. They were found Sunday but are believed to have died Friday night or early Saturday.

Larry Clary, 16, of Harveysburg, near Wilmington, in a one-car accident on Ohio 73 eight miles west of Wilmington.

2 Are Killed, 5 Injured In Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two persons were killed and five others injured in a two-car crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike two miles west of the Allegheny Valley Interchange Sunday.

Killed were Mrs. Eleanor Keilman, 26, of Oaks, Pa., driver of one car, and Andrew Sank, 44, of Cleveland, an occupant of the other vehicle.

Jack Keilman, 28, husband of the dead woman, was in critical condition. An 18-month-old boy and a 9-month-old girl, children of the Keilmans, were admitted in fair condition.

Admitted in critical condition were Ann Sank, 43, wife of the dead man, and Waldo P. Sank, 50, of Cleveland, his brother and driver of the car.

Police said the eastbound Keilman car crossed the medial strip and collided with the Sank car.

Ohio's Traffic Deaths Far Lower Than Feared

Traffic	17
Fires	4
Miscellaneous	7
Total	28

By The Associated Press

Ohio motorists had a pleasant Christmastide surprise for safety officials during the 78-hour holiday week-end just past.

Reported traffic fatalities ran much lower than the rate indicated to keep pace with predictions for the combined Christmas and New Year's weekend total. New Year's weekend drivers will have to go on quite an accident binge to push the total up to the 55 deaths forecast for the two weekends by the Highway Safety Department.

The traffic death toll from 6 p.m. Thursday, Christmas Eve, through midnight Sunday was smaller than the total for several single days around Christmas in recent years. It didn't even reach the amount recorded the previous weekend, a "normal" period of only 54 hours.

Regardless of all this, the statistics are of no consolation to survivors of the 17 who did perish on the state's highways, byways and streets the past weekend.

Along with them died four persons in fires and seven in miscellaneous accidents for an Ohio weekend fatality count of 28 in The Associated Press survey.

Staying home didn't prove safe for everyone, either. All four fire victims were killed in their homes. So were six of those killed in miscellaneous fashion, including four (two each in two instances) by carbon monoxide asphyxiation and two in falls downstairs.

There were a pair of double-fatals among the vehicle mishaps.

The fatalities:

Thursday Night

Friday

Oren Duhl, 15, when fire destroyed a residence in Mad River Twp., near Dayton.

Mrs. Bessie Pestak, 75, of Independence, when she tumbled down the stairs of a relatives' home at Strongsville.

Mrs. Emma Hightower, 99, of Addyston (Hamilton County), in a fire that swept through her home.

Clifford Steelman, 57, and Thomas W. Wells, 20, in the collision of an automobile and a tractor near Harrison (Hamilton County). Steelman was riding on the rear of the tractor, and Wells was in the automobile which hit it.

Mrs. Rose Lovejoy, 35, of Toledo, bled to death after she cut her arm on a broken window glass.

Saturday

Frank Evelyn, 37, of Los Angeles, when his station wagon went out of control on rain-slick U.S. 21 south of Akron near Loyal Oak.

Joseph Johnson, 29, of Crestline, when his car hit a telephone pole near Crestline on a county road.

Herman Rath, 57, and his wife, Esther, 59, of Birmingham, Mich., in a crash at the intersection of Ohio 31 and 47 in Union County.

Mrs. Adeline Frattaroli, 52, of Barberton, of injuries suffered in an auto crash in Girard.

Sunday

Mrs. Lillian Mitchell, about 37, and her daughter, Dolores, 14, of Cleveland, asphysiated in their four-room apartment. They were found Sunday but are believed to have died Friday night or early Saturday.

Leo Hebling, 81, of Coshocton, struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad train as he walked along the tracks near Coshocton.

2 Are Killed, 5 Injured In Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two persons were killed and five others injured in a two-car crash on the Pennsylvania Turnpike two miles west of the Allegheny Valley Interchange Sunday.

Killed were Mrs. Eleanor Keilman, 26, of Oaks, Pa., driver of one car, and Andrew Sank, 44, of Cleveland, an occupant of the other vehicle.

Jack Keilman, 28, husband of the dead woman, was in critical condition. An 18-month-old boy and a 9-month-old girl, children of the Keilmans, were admitted in fair condition.

Admitted in critical condition were Ann Sank, 43, wife of the dead man, and Waldo P. Sank, 50, of Cleveland, his brother and driver of the car.

Police said the eastbound Keilman car crossed the medial strip and collided with the Sank car.

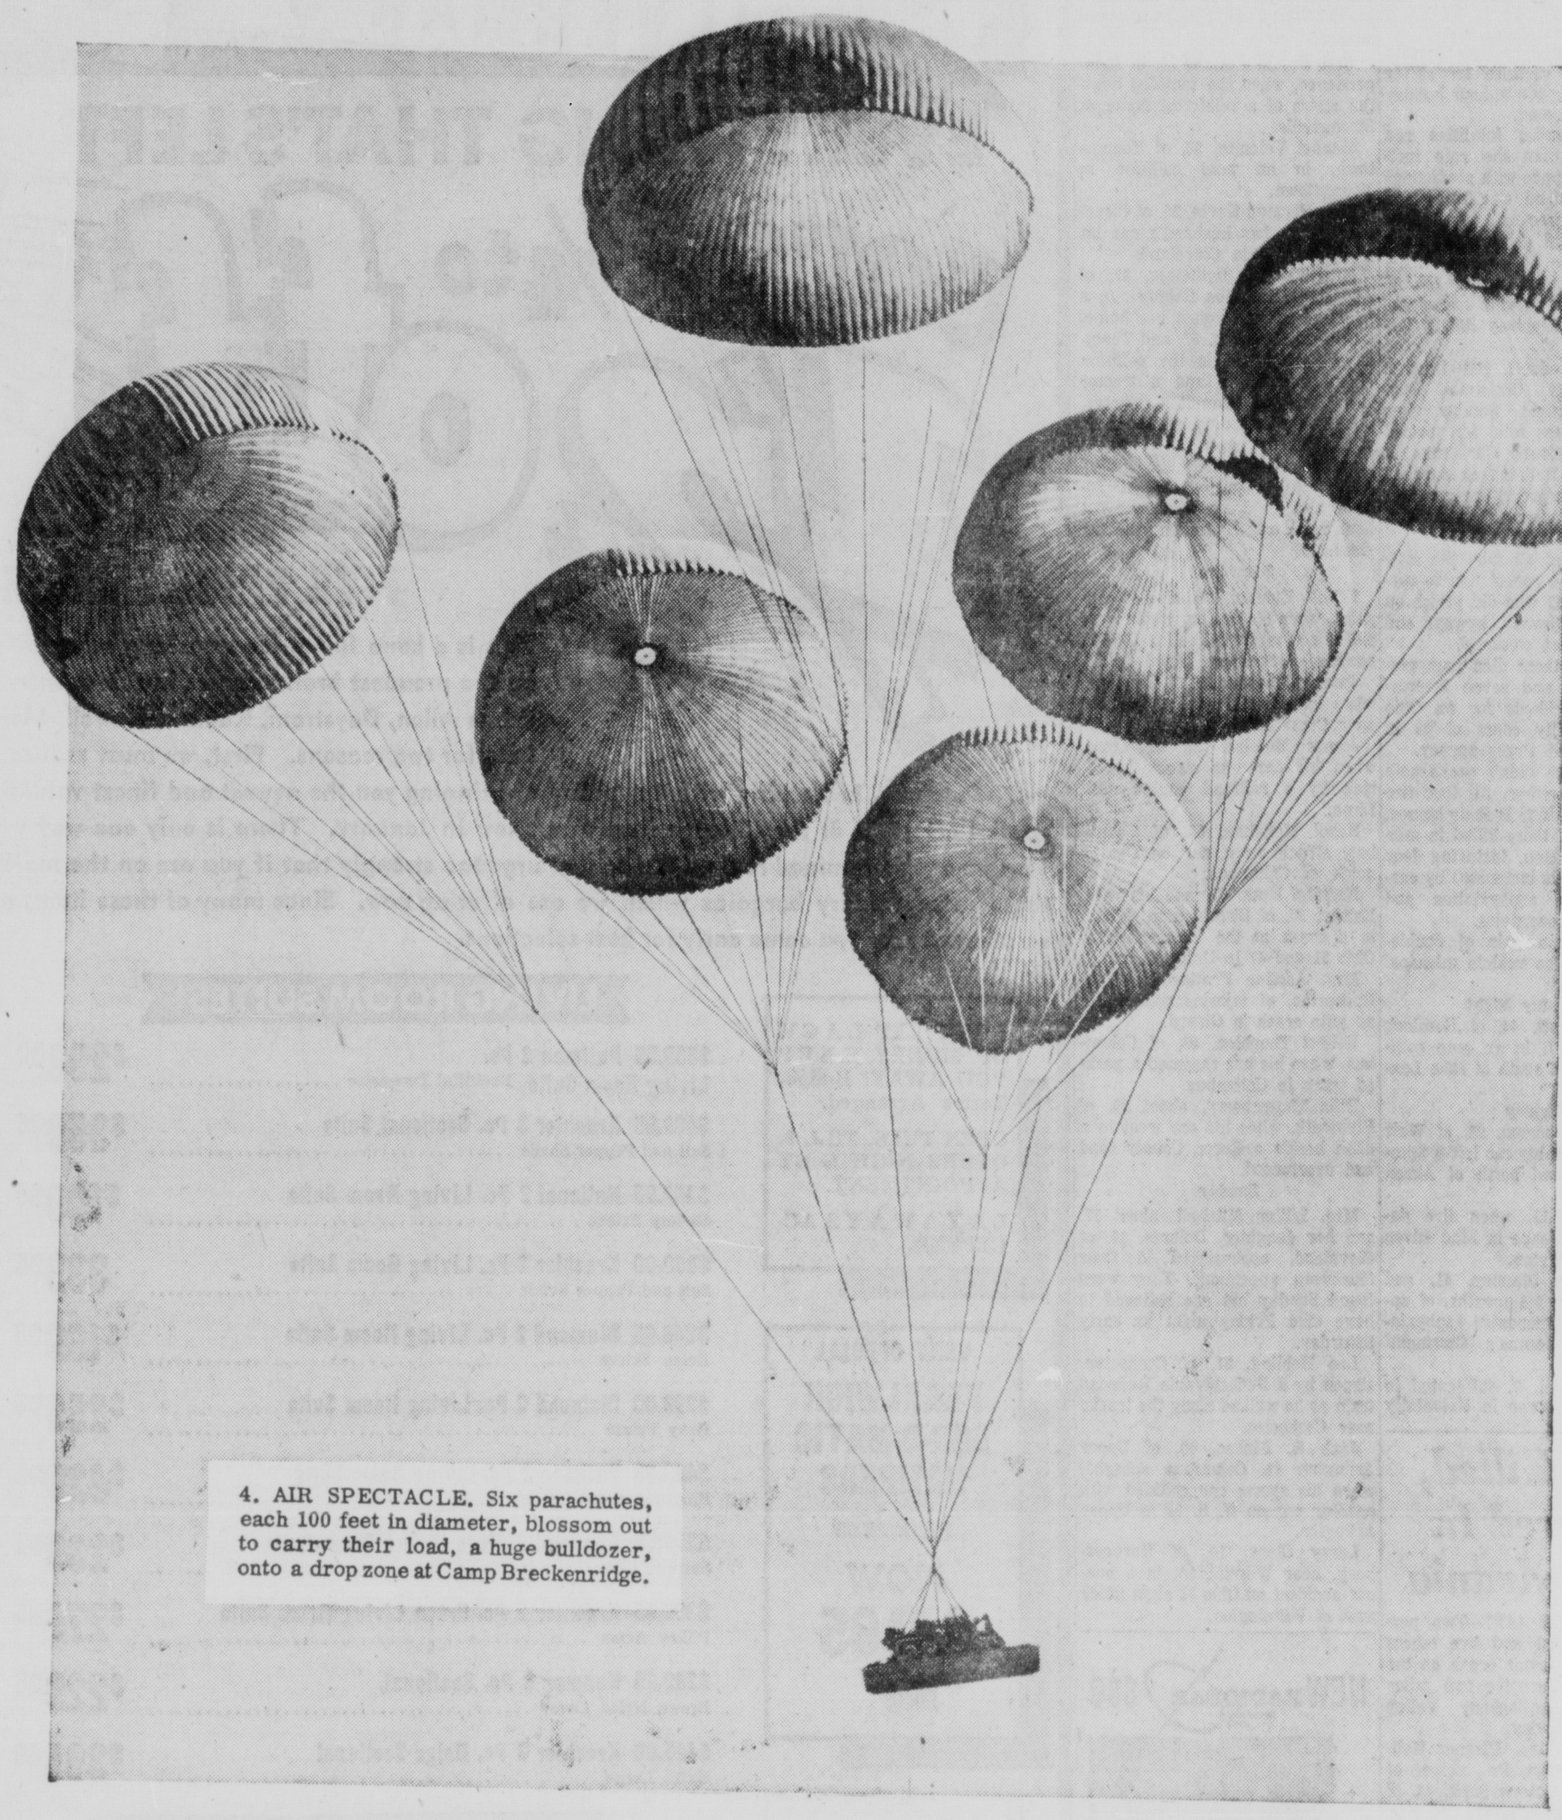
EXERCISE BULLDOZER

1. MASS LEAP. Paratroopers of the 326th Airborne Engineers, 101st Airborne Division, jump into Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

2. Two members of engineer battalion move out fast from drop zone at Camp Breckenridge after landing by parachute.

3. Meanwhile the loading of heavy equipment into planes for the big drop goes on. This truck is going for the ride.



4. AIR SPECTACLE. Six parachutes, each 100 feet in diameter, blossom out to carry their load, a huge bulldozer, onto a drop zone at Camp Breckenridge.

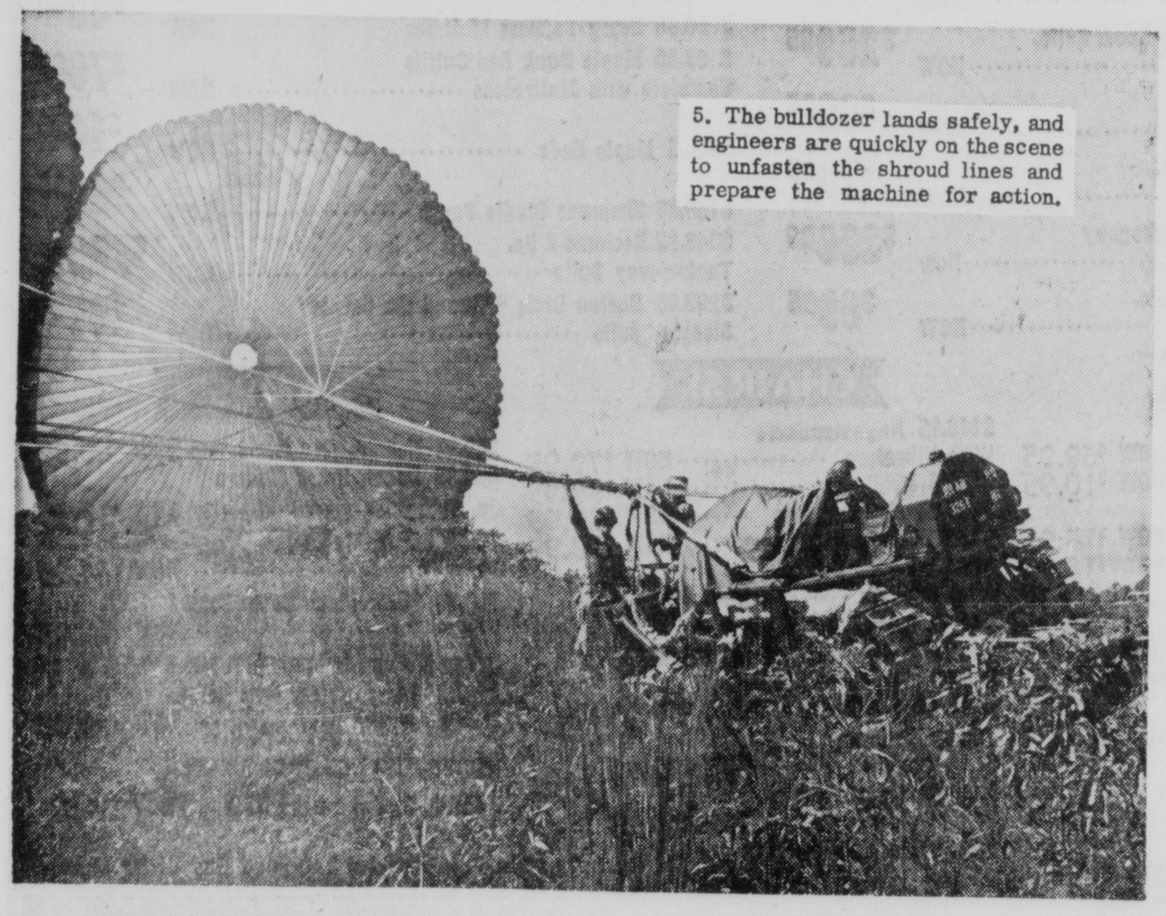
It rained bulldozers recently at Camp Breckenridge, Ky. They were part of 22 monster loads of heavy equipment parachuted to engineers of the 101st Airborne Division. Their mission: to build a 2,500 foot airstrip. They accomplished it in 52 hours.

The drop, first successful one in American military history, also included dump trucks, graders and jeeps. Each made the descent via six parachutes, 100 feet wide. From dozens of planes, 333 engineers jumped ahead of the equipment. By early afternoon, the engineers had cleared away enough ground so that the airstrip's pattern was clearly visible.

Exercise Ranger Bulldozer, the name given the drop, did not mean an added airstrip for the military base. The engineers dismantled it later.

Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, division commander, said afterwards that "we knew it could be done. Now we know we can do it." He said such drops would be invaluable to infantry units that had captured a remote outpost or set up a base in a foreign land. He also predicted it would have a future impact on the civilian economy, too.

"The possibilities of dropping heavy building equipment into virgin territory — Africa, South America, anywhere — are unlimited," he added.



5. The bulldozer lands safely, and engineers are quickly on the scene to unfasten the shroud lines and prepare the machine for action.

6. Four bulldozers which had been parachuted from the skies start moving earth on a 2500-foot long airstrip.

7. A C-123 troop transport plane lands on the airstrip which did not exist 52 hours before it set down.

By JACK DAVIS

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, counted out of the race by many after three losses in their first seven games, are the world champions of professional football again today.

They clinched the title for the second straight year by staging an inspired 24-point fourth quarter Sunday to rout the Eastern Division champion New York Giants 31-16. Last year the Colts defeated the Giants in the playoff 23-17 in a sudden-death overtime period.

Colts quarterback Johnny Unitas, voted the pro football player of the year, proved to a capacity crowd of nearly 60,000 in Memorial Stadium and televiewers in 44 states that he deserved the honor. He threw two touchdown passes and ran for a third. It was the 39th straight game in which he has thrown a scoring heave.

Still, it was the defense on both teams that shone.

During that wild last period, when Giant quarterback Charley Conerly was trying to get New York back in the ball game with long passes, the Colts secondardy picked off three interceptions. Conerly had only four intercepted during the entire season.

"Their defense made all their points for them today, not the offense," said Giant coach Jim Lee Howell. "Both defenses were better than the offensive teams."

If there were a single crucial play for the Giants, Howell reasoned, it was in the third quarter when New York, on the Colts 26, decided to go for a first down on a fourth-and-one situation. The Giants were leading 9-7 at the time.

Halfback Alex Webster tried to barrel through his right tackle spot, but the Colt line surged in on him en masse, and Baltimore took over the ball on downs.

"The team seemed to go down a bit after that," Howell said, "though they never stopped trying."

Baltimore coach Weeb Ewbank, a beaming, satisfied soul, also credited that play with being an important one.

"I think holding them like that fired us up," he said.

That they were. Unitas and Lenny Moore were the key men in an 86-yard, 10-play drive that produced the Colts' touchdown early in the fourth quarter to put them ahead 14-9. A Unitas to Moore pass and run play moved the ball to the New York 12. A few plays later the versatile Unitas rolled out to his right and scored from the four standing up. From then on the Colts were home free.

It was the same great Unitas-Moore combination that clicked for the first quarter touchdown that gave the Colts a 7-0 lead. This score—on a 60-yard play—came the first time the Colts had the ball. Unitas faked a handoff to Alan Ameche and then, from his own 40, fired the ball to Moore. Fleet Lenny took it on the New York 38 and sped all the way for the score.

The Giants started out impressively moving quickly into Colt territory. But Conerly was caught 18 yards behind the line by rushing defensive end Gino Marchetti, and Don Chandler punted over the goal line.

New York got going again late in the quarter on a beautiful draw play, with Mel Triplett shooting down the middle for 28 yards to the Colts 17. Then came a break that could have had some influence on the outcome.

Conerly barely overshot Rote in the end zone. Rote dived for the ball and fell. Colt halfback Johnny Sample, a step behind, fell over Rote, and his knee hit Rote's chin, inflicting a mild concussion. Rote didn't get back in action until midway of the third quarter.

Pat Summerall came in then to kick the first of three field goals which kept the Giants in the thick of it until the roof fell in that last quarter.

New York played the Colts off their feet during the third quarter — Baltimore didn't get a first down until the period was almost over—but the Giants were unable to muster more than a third field goal. Summerall's last effort was a comparatively short 15-yarder climaxing a drive that started on the Colts 14.

Then came that fourth.

After the Colts had taken the lead, Conerly tried to get the Giants downfield with a 25-yard pass aimed at Rote. But little Andy Nelson from Memphis State grabbed the pigskin and ran it back 16 yards to the Giants 14. After one plunge by Ameche, Unitas lobbed a corner pass to Richardson for all the scoring the Colts would need.

Conerly, still hoping to pull it out, fired two more long ones. Sample got in the way of both of those, however. The Maryland State scatback returned one of them 42 yards for a touchdown, literally fighting his way for the last three yards while two red-and-white jerseyed players tried to drag him down. Sample returned his second interception 34 yards before he was racked up.

The Giants finally managed to dent the Colts goal line with a 32-yard pass from Conerly which end Bob Schnelker caught about two yards inside the end zone. But there were only 32 seconds remaining, and the issue had been decided.

The statistics were much closer than the score. New York chalked up 16 first downs to Baltimore's 13, and outrushed the Colts, 118 yards to 73. Baltimore had a slight edge in passing, with Unitas completing 18 of 29 tries for 264 yards, and Conerly completing 17 in 38 tries for 250 yards. None of Unitas' heaves was intercepted, and neither team fumbled. New York was penalized 23 yards to 30 for Baltimore.

The game grossed $666,281. With taxes, rentals and operating expenses taken out, it left a net take of $555,743.16. The Colt players and coaches will get a check for $4,674.44, with $3,083.27 going to each loser.

He asked Conerly if he were hurt from the pounding he took from the big Colt linemen.

"Just my pride," grinned the graying veteran.

Celts Roll On, Hawks Lose

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics still are rolling toward the National Basketball Assn's consecutive game winning streak. But the budding streak of the St. Louis Hawks has come to an end.

The Celtics, who have lost only four of their 32 games, ran their winning streak to 15 games Sunday night by downing the Cincinnati Royals 122-111. The record of 17 was hung up by the old Washington Capitols.

The Hawks, leading the western division by 7½ games, had their string snapped at six games Saturday when they dropped a 117-104 decision to the Syracuse Nationals.

Minneapolis' Lakers posted two victories over Detroit, winning 108-105 Saturday and 119-109 Sunday. In the only other game over the weekend, the New York Knicks turned back the Philadelphia Warriors 122-116 Saturday but still remained deep in the eastern division cellar.

The Celtics' 15th straight came despite a 41-point performance by Cincinnati's Jack Twyman. In downing the Royals for the 13th successive time over a two-year span, the Celtics got 25 points from Bob Cousy and 17 each from Tom Heinsohn, Bill Sharman and Frank Ramsay.

Elgin Baylor came up with 28 points in each game as the Lakers moved within one game of the second place Pistons in the western division.

'Put Stopper On Giants'

'Old Men Did Fine Job,' Ewbank Says Of Linemen

By LOU PANOS

He was thinking, no doubt, of pre-season comments — fortified by a mid-season slump — that age had robbed the Colt forward wall of its brilliance.

But on the money play Sunday it was "the old men" who put the stopper on the surging Giants and helped turn a tense defensive struggle into a rout.

Leading 9-7 in the third quarter, New York was on the march and threatening to break the game wide open. With fourth down and inches to go just outside the Baltimore 26, quarterback Charley Conerly called on Alex Webster for a line smash which would have meant a first down.

Webster barreled toward right guard and tried to dive over the battling linemen, only to meet an unyielding mass and wind up in the arms of all-pro end Gino Marchetti (age 32) and tackle Ray Krouse (also 32).

Besides Marchetti and Krouse, the Colt defensive line included all-pro tackle Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, who's pushing 29, 34-year-old tackle Art Donovan and 30-year-old end Don Joyce.

Ewbank noted that Colt quarterback Johnny Unitas, who tossed two touchdown passes and scored on a four-yard end sweep, also was under pressure by the Giant defense. He was smeared seven times for losses totaling 56 yards, compared with 45 yards lost by Conerly on five breakdowns in New York pass protection.

"We wanted the ball," explained Ewbank. "I stressed to John he shouldn't throw until he was ready.

"But I believe his caution led to the victory. He had no interceptions and I believe that was the key to the game.

How does this Colt team compare with the one which beat the Giants 23-17 in the sudden-death overtime thriller for the 1958 championship?

Not as good, said Giant tackle Dick Modzelewski. "We faced a much better club last year. But you can't take it away from them. They're champs."

AAU Defended On Rejection Of Games With Swedish Five

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — The chairman of the AAU's basketball committee said today the AAU was "perfectly justified" in refusing to sanction a series of games in this country with a Swedish national cage team.

"The AAU is the governing body of international sports," said G. Russell Lyons. "These matters must be handled through channels. The Swedish incident is not a thing that developed quickly. Everyone was told some time ago the proposal was going to be turned down."

Lyon's comment came shortly after Jim McGregor, 37, an American who has made a career of coaching national basketball teams in Europe, took a verbal poke at Dan Ferris, head of the AAU.

McGregor said Ferris "is hurting our sports prestige around the world" because he is "trying to enforce a policy of isolationism."

McGregor made his remarks after Ferris had announced in New York the AAU had refused to sanction the series of games involving the Swedish team in America. Ferris said the reason was that a professional promoter —McGregor—was arranging the Swedish tour.

Baltimore Makes It Two Straight Over Giants In Playoff

Colts Win NFL Title By 31-16 Score

The Review Sports
MONDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1959 PAGE 19

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, counted out of the race by many after three losses in their first seven games, are the world champions of professional football again today.

They clinched the title for the second straight year by staging an inspired 24-point fourth quarter Sunday to rout the Eastern Division champion New York Giants 31-16. Last year the Colts defeated the Giants in the playoff 23-17 in a sudden-death overtime period.

Celts Roll On, Hawks Lose

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics still are rolling toward the National Basketball Assn's consecutive game winning streak. But the budding streak of the St. Louis Hawks has come to an end.

The Celtics, who have lost only four of their 32 games, ran their winning streak to 15 games Sunday night by downing the Cincinnati Royals 122-111. The record of 17 was hung up by the old Washington Capitols.

The Hawks, leading the western division by 7½ games, had their string snapped at six games Saturday when they dropped a 117-104 decision to the Syracuse Nationals.

Minneapolis' Lakers posted two victories over Detroit, winning 108-105 Saturday and 119-109 Sunday. In the only other game over the weekend, the New York Knicks turned back the Philadelphia Warriors 122-116 Saturday but still remained deep in the eastern division cellar.

The Celtics' 15th straight came despite a 41-point performance by Cincinnati's Jack Twyman. In downing the Royals for the 13th successive time over a two-year span, the Celtics got 25 points from Bob Cousy and 17 each from Tom Heinsohn, Bill Sharman and Frank Ramsay.

Elgin Baylor came up with 28 points in each game as the Lakers moved within one game of the second place Pistons in the western division.

23 Major College Cage Tournaments Scheduled Tonight

Mounties Set In Tourney At Los Angeles

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Twenty-three, count 'em, college basketball tournaments are carded for tonight with practically every top team in the country involved in the big ones.

Six tournaments got under way last Saturday, and the other 17 start tonight. They'll all wind up by the end of the week.

In Los Angeles, the final of the first annual Los Angeles Festival could wind up in a replay of last season's NCAA championship between California and West Virginia.

The Bears have won 22 games in a row, the longest winning streak among major schools. They run head-on into Illinois (5-0) in their first game. West Virginia (8-0), led by All America Jerry West, plays Stanford.

The other two openers match Southern California against Northwestern and UCLA against Michigan.

At Raleigh, N.C., the Dixie classic starts with Utah (8-0) favored to break a 10-year stranglehold by North Carolina schools. The Utes play Duke in the first round. Wake Forest tangles with Holy Cross, North Carolina State meets Dayton and North Carolina is matched against Minnesota in the other games.

Other major tournaments getting under way tonight include the All-College at Oklahoma City, the Blue Grass at Louisville, the Southwest Conference at Houston, the Hurricane Classic at Miami and the Motor City at Detroit.

In New York, they still are marvelling at Oscar Robertson's fantastic 47 points in Cincinnati's 96-56 rout of St. Bonaventure Saturday in the first round of the ECAC Holiday Festival.

Big O and Co. meet St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the semifinal tonight — the same club they smothered, 123-79 earlier in the season.

St. Joseph's advanced with an 84-70 triumph over Manhattan. The other semifinalists are Iowa, which turned back St. John's (NY) 91-84, and New York University, 78-68 victor over Dartmouth.

Two finals are on tap for tonight. Wisconsin meets Canisius for the Queen City title at Buffalo, and Evansville plays Wittenburg for the Evansville (Ind.) Invitational championship.

Only 2 Contests Remain In Rodeo

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Only two contests remained in the National Finals Rodeo today as the big cowboy show moved into its fifth go-round.

Jim Shoulders of Henryetta, Okla., the all-around champion for the fifth straight year, lead bull riding and was in a strong position to win it. Jack Buschbom of Cassville, Wis., topped the bareback bronc riders and also was in good shape to take the championship.

The other three titles — saddle bronc, calf roping and steer wrestling — already had been stowed away.

Champion Agrees To Return Match

STOCKHOLM (AP) — World heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson agreed today to meet Floyd Patterson in New York next June. The agreement was reached after a conference with a group of New York promoters.

Roy Cohn, head of the New York group which flew here, said he preferred the Polo Grounds over Yankee Stadium for the rematch.

Humbert Fugazy, veteran promoter, told newsmen that the fight should yield a gate of at least 1¼ million dollars.

Cohn and Johansson's adviser, Edwin Ahlquist, said in concert, "We are in agreement in principle."

Cohn added that his group would now apply to the New York State Athletic Commission for permission to hold the world title fight. Ahlquist said that once this permission is granted the remainder of the problem is only a detail.

Hard-Charging Yank Line Given Credit For Victory

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A beefy, hard-charging Yankee line proved to be a deciding factor in the North's 20-8 triumph in the 22nd annual Blue - Gray football game.

The burly linemen, most of them from Big 10 colleges, got the jump on the Southern all stars early in Saturday's game and remained in command all the way.

Rival coaching staffs agreed inspired line play was mainly responsible for the second consecutive North win. It narrowed the South's lead in the series to 13-8.

The North all stars went 85 yards in 11 plays for the first touchdown, 77 yards in 12 plays for the next and the last one came on a 52-yard drive in eight plays.

Vanderbilt's Tom Moore scored the only Gray touchdown on a 23-yard pass from Harvey White of Clemson in the third quarter. Then Charlie Milstead of Texas A&M on a fake placement attempt passed to Moore who drove over for a two-pointer.

Head Coach Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue, who directed the winning strategy both this year and last, was warm in his praise of the Blue line as was Oklahoma's Gomer Jones, the line coach.

"Our offensive line did a good job of opening holes in the South line," said Jones, "And they really kept the pressure on the Rebels all afternoon.

Southwest Links Its Grid Defeat To Selection Method

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — A lopsided system of picking Southwest all stars was blamed for their defeat by Arizona State University Coach Frank Kush.

National all stars cut down the southwesterners 21-6 in Saturday's second annual Copper Bowl game at Tempe.

"Things will be different next year," said Kush, southwest copilot with Ben Martin of the Air Force Academy.

"The system of selecting players has to be equalized. The southwest area and its talent are too limited," said Kush.

"The nationals draw from the rest of the nation," he complained. "We were outgunned on the offensive line and couldn't match their passing game."

The two teams battled evenly in the first quarter before 16,000 fans and a national television audience. After that the Nationals seized control.

The southwest's only score came on a 41-yard pass from Arizona quarterback Jim Giest to end Bill Spanko of Arizona State University.

Columbus Is Site For Regional Play

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus will be a regional high school basketball site this year under a new plan announced by the Ohio High School Athletic Assn.

Under the new setup, which uses numbered regions, Columbus will be host city for the four Class AA Region No. 3 teams on March 18-19.

The OHSAA said other Class AA events will be at Kent Stafe (Region 1) with teams from Bedford, Kent, Willoughby and Youngstown; at Toledo (Region 2) with teams from Berea, Marion, Sandusky and Toledo; and at Cincinnati (Region 4) with two teams from Cincinnati and one each from Dayton and Troy.

In Class A, sites will be the same as last year.

Two Big Swim Tests

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale's powerful swimmers will top off the season by competing in the NCAA Championships at Dallas March 24-26. After that the Eli stars will compete in the National AAU tests March 31-April 2.

4 Ohio Teams Press Bids In Tourney Play

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati, Xavier, Dayton and Bowling Green, big names in Ohio basketball, shoot for honors tonight in some top holiday tournaments.

The first-ranked Bearcats (7-0) touched off the rash of year-end tourneys Saturday with an easy 96-56 victory over St. Bonaventure in the ECAC Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden.

Xavier (7-1) and Dayton (6-1) are in for rugged competition when the Muskies tangle with Florida in the Hurricane Classic and the Flyers go against North Carolina State in the tough Dixie Classic.

Bowling Green (2-3) is pitted against Tulsa in a first round test of the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City.

In non-tournament action, Ohio State (7-1) journeys to Lexington for an engagement with Kentucky, a foe with considerable prestige.

The Bearcats face St. Joseph's (Pa.) tonight in a semifinal, and these two teams have met before. The club from Philadelphia would rather forget about it, though. Cincinnati walloped St. Joe, 123-79, two weeks ago.

Wittenberg (6-1) advanced to the final round of the Evansville (Ind.) tournament, disposing of Tennessee Tech, 56-44. The Tigers, who have lost only to a good Louisville team, face the host quintet, Evansville, for the championship tonight.

In the only other action Saturday, Xavier trimmed New Mexico, 84-76, for its third victory of the week.

Other tournaments involving Ohio teams tonight include the four-team Akron Invitational and the Quincy College NAIA Holiday Tournament, in which Youngstown will compete. The Penguins play Southern Illinois first.

On Friday, Baldwin - Wallace, Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio Northern and Mount Union match baskets in the Ohio Methodist College Holiday Tourney at Bereaa. That same night, Wooster plays in a meet at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Other top games are scheduled for Saturday when Dayton clashes with Cincinnati, Bowling Green travels to Duquesne, and Ohio University challenges Toledo in a Mid-American Conference tilt.

In interstate play this season, Ohio teams have won 71 times and lost 41, holding a scoring advantage of 8,801 points to 7,995. The home floor forces have won 120 games and lost only 45.

Big 10 Cagers Still Tune Up

By The Associated Press

Big Ten basketball teams, scattered throughout the nation in holiday tournaments, hope to fatten their intersectional records before settling down to the conference race which opens Saturday.

Seven teams will be in tourney play from coast to coast Monday and Ohio State and Michigan State journey to foreign courts for competition.

Ohio State probably has the toughest assignment, since the Buckeyes play at Kentucky. Michigan State will be at Butler and idle Purdue waits until Tuesday night before entergaining Montana State.

Iowa and Wisconsin, both victorious Saturday, continue play in the East. Iowa, a 91-84 victory over St. John's in holiday activity in New York's Madison Squars Garden, will engage New York University. Wisconsin faces Canisius in the Queen City Tournament in Buffalo after downing Boston College, 95-82, Saturday.

Indiana is pitted against Maryland in Louisville's Blue Grass Invitational and Minnesota faces North Carolina in the Dixie Classic. Illinois, Michigan and Northwestern all will be busy in the Los Angeles tournament.

Northwestern's foe is Southern California and Michigan plays UCLA.

Once tournament activity is ended, Western Conference teams will rest before opening league play Saturday when three games are slated.

Indiana, the pre-season favorite, opens at home against Purdue. Iowa, which has gaines stature since the season started, will be at Minnesota, and defending champion Michigan State is at Wisconsin in a regionally televissed matinee.

Fitz Changes Uniform

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Late in October, former National League pitching ace Fred Fitzsimmons signed a 1960 contract as hurling instructor for farm team pitchers in the Chicago Cub chain. But one week later he got his release so that he could become pitching coach for the Kansas City Athletics under new manager Bob Elliott.

Two Rookie Quarterbacks Have Given Syracuse Lift

By JIM KOCH

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two rookie quarterbacks will pitch the Syracuse attack against the Texas Longhorns in the Cotton Bowl next Friday.

Dave Sarette, so nearsighted he sees only a blur at 30 yards, came out of the New Hampshire hills to complete 47 of 83 passes this season for 763 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Easterly, at 21 two years older than Sarette, hit on 21 of 39 passes for 353 yards and seven scores. He led a second unit that played an impressive role in Syracuse's march through 10 football foes to a national championship.

Syracuse coaches are counting on this pair to produce, since injuries and ailments have slowed several key running backs. But halfbacks Ernie Davis and Mark Weber may be ready to go against Texas and only second-unit fullback John Nichols' remained on the doubtful list. He has an injured toe.

Easterly's 53.8-per cent completion record fell just shy of sarette's 59 per cent.

This from a youngster who passed so poorly as a T-formation quarterback at North High in Syracuse the center frequently snapped the ball through Easterly's legs for a fullback to do the throwing.

Sarette, a basketball sensation in his home town, Manchester, N.H., talked Syracuse coaches into giving him a football scholarship. Easterly entered unannounced, finally won a scholarship as understudy to Sarette on the Syracuse frosh team two years ago.

Both picked up experience running enemy plays against the varsity. Easterly practiced passing on his own all summer.

'Had Enough,' Caldwell Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Joe Caldwell, the Miamian who set a pass record at Army and pitched the North to a 27-17 victory over the South in a Shrine charity game Saturday night, says he's through with football.

"I think I've played about enough," said the West Point cadet who is bound to three years military service after his graduation in June. "I have no plans for professional football and — right now — I intend to make the army my career."

Caldwell completed 13 out of 20 passes for 169 yards and one touchdown in the Shrine game in the Orange Bowl.

"I think our line, offensively and defensively, did a great job," Caldwell said. "I had no problem. The protection was just tops."

Caldwell said his first choice for Army service is with the Engineers and he hopes to be stationed in the states. He plans to marry his Miami high school sweetheart, Geegee Mathers, in June and said, "that's the best pass I ever completed."

Bud Kennedy is in his 12th season as basketball coach at Florida State University.

Indiana is pitted against Maryland in Louisville's Blue Grass Invitational and Minnesota faces North Carolina in the Dixie Classic. Illinois, Michigan and Northwestern all will be busy in the Los Angeles tournament.

Northwestern's foe is Southern California and Michigan plays UCLA.

Once tournament activity is ended, Western Conference teams will rest before opening league play Saturday when three games are slated.

Indiana, the pre-season favorite, opens at home against Purdue. Iowa, which has gaines stature since the season started, will be at Minnesota, and defending champion Michigan State is at Wisconsiin in a regionally televissed matinee.

Fitz Changes Uniform

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Late in October, former National League pitching ace Fred Fitzsimmons signed a 1960 contract as hurling instructor for farm team pitchers in the Chicago Cub chain. But one week later he got his release so that he could become pitching coach for the Kansas City Athletics under new manager Bob Elliott.

4 Ohio Teams Press Bids In Tourney Play

By HAL PARIS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati, Xavier, Dayton and Bowling Green, big names in Ohio basketball, shoot for honors tonight in some top holiday tournaments.

The first-ranked Bearcats (7-0) touched off the rash of year-end tourneys Saturday with an easy 96-56 victory over St. Bonaventure in the ECAC Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden.

Xavier (7-1) and Dayton (6-1) are in for rugged competition when the Muskies tangle with Florida in the Hurricane Classic and the Flyers go against North Carolina State in the tough Dixie Classic.

Bowling Green (2-3) is pitted against Tulsa in a first round test of the All-College Tourney at Oklahoma City.

In non-tournament action, Ohio State (7-1) journeys to Lexington for an engagement with Kentucky, a foe with considerable prestige.

In last Saturday's contests, Cincinnati had little difficulty in its first round test as fabulous Oscar Robertson netted 47 points.

The Bearcats face St. Joseph's (Pa.) tonight in a semifinal, and these two teams have met before. The club from Philadelphia would rather forget about it, though. Cincinnati walloped St. Joe, 123-79, two weeks ago.

Wittenberg (6-1) advanced to the final round of the Evansville (Ind.) tournament, disposing of Tennessee Tech, 56-44. The Tigers, who have lost only to a good Louisville team, face the host quintet, Evansville, for the championship tonight.

In the only other action Saturday, Xavier trimmed New Mexico, 84-76, for its third victory of the week.

Other tournaments involving Ohio teams tonight include the four-team Akron Invitational and the Quincy College NAIA Holiday Tournament, in which Youngstown will compete. The Penguins play Southern Illinois first.

On Friday, Baldwin - Wallace, Ohio Wesleyan, Ohio Northern and Mount Union match baskets in the Ohio Methodist College Holiday Tourney at Bereaa. That same night, Wooster plays in a meet at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Other top games are scheduled for Saturday when Dayton clashes with Cincinnati, Bowling Green travels to Duquesne, and Ohio University challenges Toledo in a Mid-American Conference tilt.

In interstate play this season, Ohio teams have won 71 times and lost 41, holding a scoring advantage of 8,801 points to 7,995. The home floor forces have won 120 games and lost only 45.

Two Rookie Quarterbacks Have Given Syracuse Lift

By JIM KOCH

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two rookie quarterbacks will pitch the Syracuse attack against the Texas Longhorns in the Cotton Bowl next Friday.

Dave Sarette, so nearsighted he sees only a blur at 30 yards, came out of the New Hampshire hills to complete 47 of 83 passes this season for 763 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Easterly, at 21 two years older than Sarette, hit on 21 of 39 passes for 353 yards and seven scores. He led a second unit that played an impressive role in Syracuse's march through 10 football foes to a national championship.

Syracuse coaches are counting on this pair to produce, since injuries and ailments have slowed several key running backs. But halfbacks Ernie Davis and Mark Weber may be ready to go against Texas and only second-unit fullback John Nichols' remained on the doubtful list. He has an injured toe.

Easterly's 53.8-per cent completion record fell just shy of sarette's 59 per cent.

This from a youngster who passed so poorly as a T-formation quarterback at North High in Syracuse the center frequently snapped the ball through Easterly's legs for a fullback to do the throwing.

Sarette, a basketball sensation in his home town, Manchester, N.H., talked Syracuse coaches into giving him a football scholarship. Easterly entered unannounced, finally won a scholarship as understudy to Sarette on the Syracuse frosh team two years ago.

Both picked up experience running enemy plays against the varsity. Easterly practiced passing on his own all summer.

Leaders Tighten Positions During Hockey Warfare

By The Associated Press

The Springfield Indians, pacing the field by eight points, made only one appearance but in that they downed last place Quebec 3-2 Saturday. Second-place Providence also was out only once but the Reds made the most of it Sunday by also beating Quebec, 4-0.

Rochester and Buffalo, deadlocked for third place, each came through with two triumphs. The Americans beat Hershey twice, 6-2 Saturday and 3-1 Sunday. The Bisons whipped the Cleveland Barons 5-2 at Cleveland Saturday and 5-3 at home Sunday.

'Had Enough,' Caldwell Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Joe Caldwell, the Miamian who set a pass record at Army and pitched the North to a 27-17 victory over the South in a Shrine charity game Saturday night, says he's through with football.

"I think I've played about enough," said the West Point cadet who is bound to three years military service after his graduation in June. "I have no plans for professional football and — right now — I intend to make the army my career."

Caldwell completed 13 out of 20 passes for 169 yards and one touchdown in the Shrine game in the Orange Bowl.

"I think our line, offensively and defensively, did a great job," Caldwell said. "I had no problem. The protection was just tops."

Caldwell said his first choice for Army service is with the Engineers and he hopes to be stationed in the states. He plans to marry his Miami high school sweetheart, Geegee Mathers, in June and said, "that's the best pass I ever completed."

'Silent Cal' Really Earned Reputation

Moore, whose father and Coolidge were cousins, says he was riding from Northampton, Mass., to Plymouth with Coolidge in an automobile once.

Coolidge didn't say a word throughout most of the trip. But as they neared Plymouth, he turned quickly, as if startled, and looked out the window. Then he settled back in his seat.

"Woodchuck," he told Moore. And that was the only word he spoke through the entire trip.

Different-Type Apartment

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

When a career girl moves into the average apartment, she must be inventive to make her decorating project a success.

Take the apartment rented by home economist Margaret Spader as an example. It is an old Victorian building in New York.

"The rooms were so small," Miss Spader says, "that I had to remove a wall to get adequate space. But when the wall was taken down, the two small rooms made a delightful living - dining room. Then I began the task of making the 3½-room apartment as cozy as possible."

Space isn't the only problem to be solved in an apartment which can easily take on an air of sameness. To have something different from your neighbor, you must strive for individuality.

Miss Spader chose Oriental colors because she likes home accessories that are Eastern in design. Mellow green, kumquat orange and the brown and beige of Indian corn found their way into the color scheme.

"Small touches help tie your room together," she advises. She used Japanese - style grasscloth in plastic on the front of the built-in storage unit, desk and window seat. Instead of the conventional window curtain, she used a large window shade of lime yellow Oriental flax over two windows that were separated by wall space.

The flax shades have a vinyl finish which not only sheds dust, but may be washed with mild soap and water. The built-in window seat has a cushion on half of it. A portable television set rests on the other half, and can be watched from a brilliant orange divan.

IMAGINATION pays off in this apartment. Grass cloth decorates front of storage unit. Thin carrara marble was attached to table tops and other surfaces. Flax shade spans windows.

Another interesting touch was the use of white carrara marble, thin enough to apply to the tops of coffee tables, desk and built-in units.

Miss Spader's career is in the appliance field and cooking is her forte — she is a scientific researcher on improved food methods. She enjoys the fun of cooking in different ways and carries her Oriental scheme out in using a Chinese wok on the gas stove when she serves.

Salmon, Cheese Are Wagered On Rose Bowl Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Washington salmon and a Wisconsin cheese will be riding on the outcome of the Rose Bowl football game.

Mack said the wager was made when the two "fell into a terrific argument" over the merits of the two teams as they returned from the White House where they left cranberries for the president recently.

"My salmon is so big that I'm really offering you odds of two to one, but I don't mind because I don't think you have a chance to win," Mack a former Washington student, told Laird.

The Wisconsin graduate replied:

"The Badgers have been waiting to redeem their Rose Bowl record since their loss in 1953 and I have full confidence I'll be receiving a Washington salmon soon."

Bird Expert Debunks Wise Old Crow Theory

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The owl, ballyhooed in song and verse as being wise, is stupid, says a bird expert.

Albert F. Ganier, curator of the Tennessee Orinthological Society, suggests that the "wise old owl" be replaced by "the wise old crow."

"The black crow is probably the smartest bird we have," Ganier says. "He is quick-witted, loves to play and has worked out a watch system that protects him."

Young, Old Share Boxing Spotlight

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

A couple of young heavyweight prospects and a pair of veteran middleweights are the stars in this week's boxing program.

Undefeated Tom McNeeley of Boston and once-beaten George Logan of Boise, Idaho, clash in the television headliner (NBC 10 p. m., EST) of a heavyweight card at Madison Square Garden. Middleweights Holly Mims of Washington and Dick Tiger of Nigeria meet in the Wednesday night TV (ABC 10 p.m., EST) title at Chicago Stadium.

McNeeley, 22, has a 15-0 record including 13 knockouts. Logan, 23, has a 12-1-1 record, including 10 kayos. The lone loss was by split decision to Hurricane Jackson, onetime top contender.

Four other heavyweight comers also are matched in 10-rounders on the same card. Unbeaten Lee Williams of Boston opposes Don Warner of Philadelphia and Irish Billy Ryan of Boston mixes with Bartolo Soni of the Dominican Republic.

Both Mims and Tiger are old faces to TV fans. The loser of this one, however, may not see any big time action for a while since both dropped decisions the last time out. Mims, 30, was beaten by Rudell Stritch. Tiger, 30, dropped a close decision to Joe Giardello.

Grandfather, 53, Eyes College Degree

MANVILLE, N. J. (AP)—Joseph Mignella finds it much easier attending college than it was attending high school.

He finished high school during the last four years, attending classes in New York City at night and arriving home about 12:30 a. m. His day started again at 5:30 a. m. when he arose to go to work at the U. S. Information Service in New York City.

He still has a tight schedule but feels it's not nearly as bad as the previous one.

Mignella—a 53 - year - old grandfather—expects to graduate in seven years with a degree in political science from Rutgers University.

45776 - Sumner G. Whittier, Successor in Office to H. V. Higley, as Administrator of Veterans Affairs vs Archie H. Clapsadle, et al.

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, otherwise whose place of residence is unknown, will take notice that on December 1, 1959, the undersigned Sumner G. Whittier, Successor in Office to H. V. Higley, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, alleging that there is due the plaintiff the sum of $8408.17 with interest at 4½ per cent from October 20, 1959, on a promissory note secured by a mortgage deed of even date conveying the following described property, to wit:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and described as follows, to wit:

Known as and being the north rectangular part of Lot Number Seventy-one Hundred Eighty-nine (7189) facing Eighteen and Sixty-one Hundredths (18.61) feet on Sophia Street and extending back rectangular an equal width to Rock Alley, together with the south rectangular part of Lot Number Seventy-one Hundred Ninety (7190), facing Six and Four Hundredths (6.04) feet on Sophia Street and extending back rectangularly an equal width to Rock Alley, being a strip of land facing Twenty-four and Sixty-five Hundredths (24.65) feet on Sophia Street and extending back an equal width to Rock Alley.

The petition further alleges that by reason of the default of the defendant obligators in the payment of said note according to its tenor, the conditions of the mortgage deed have been broken and the same has become absolute.

Plaintiff prays that the defendant named above be required to answer and set up its interest in said real estate, or be forever barred from asserting the same, for foreclosure of mortgage, marshalling of liens, and sale of said real estate, and the proceeds of said sale applied to the payment of the plaintiff's claim and for such other and further relief as may be equitable.

Protective Eating Insures Diet Success

Senior citizens often lament that reducing is a struggle. "After one is past 60, it is so hard to take off the excess pounds," one overweight writes.

By Ida Jean Kain

"My doctor tells me I can be around a long time if I will reduce. But, dear dietitian, I wish you would tell me how I'm going to lose 30 pounds when I can't seem to lose one pound without regaining it. My doctor advises that I get down to 150 pounds — from 180. I eat around 1,000 calories a day and still gain. I just can't do my work on less food." The letter is signed, "Troubled."

Let's see where the trouble lies. A total of 1,000 calories a day is almost certain to be less than the number you are using daily, so extra calories are slipping in somewhere around the clock.

TRACK DOWN the calorie culprits by keeping a diet-diary for a five-day period. Write down every morsel, tiny or large, that goes into your mouth. Unless you do keep accounts, it's so easy to forget the little extras.

At the end of the five-day period, add up the calories consumed each day. This is certain to shed needed light. Look the pattern over and decide where you can most easily start to change your ways of eating.

The between-meal snacks that provide little else but calories should be the first to go. Also the rich desserts that furnish largely "empty" calories should be left out. Within the framework of your likes and dislikes, you can subtract unnecessary calories and reduce.

Be content to lose weight rather slowly. At the satisfying rate of one pound a week, you can be halfway to your goal by the time spring comes smiling through. And in summer, calorie curbing is a natural. Go at dieting to lose those 30 pounds with this promising approach.

Apply the science of nutrition and build each meal around repairing foods that make good the wear and tear. Protein needs increase slightly as the years go by. It is important to include a protein with each of the three daily meals.

At breakfast, have hot, whole-grain cereal with a generous serving of milk; and on alternate mornings, have an egg, with 2 thin slices of bread, toasted, plus citrus fruit or juice, and a hot beverage.

AT LUNCHEON, hot soup made with skim milk, plus a half cup of cottage cheese with canned peach, pear, or apricot (2 halves), a thin slice of bread, lightly buttered, and hot tea, adds up to 350 calories.

Dinner: Lean meat, fish, or fowl; a yellow, orange, or dark green leafy vegetable; plus a medium-sized potato; a half pat of butter. For dessert, have fruit or a pudding made with skim milk.

That's protective dieting.

Weirton Disposal Unit Set For Full Operation

WEIRTON — This city's 6-million-dollar interceptor sewer and sewage disposal plant is scheduled for full operation after the first of the year, Sanitary Supt. W. Don Barksdale says.

The project was financed by revenue bonds and will give Weirton adequate service for a population of 50,000, although the city currently bases its needs on a 30,000 population.

Completion of the plant culminated three years' planning. It will provide another link in an eight-state effort to clean up the Ohio River.

Bringing Up A Family

Help Child Conquer His Various Fears

You have seen the tot, 2, 3, 6 or older, who is afraid to learn some simple skill most children of his age do with great self-assurance and fun. Often I receive a letter about the child, 3, 4 or 5, who won't venture to go or ride on a swing or see-saw or tricycle or enter even shallow water; or about the child, 7 or 8, who won't try to learn to roller skate or jump to the ground from a box a few feet high. Some parents write of the child, 10 or 12, who won't try to learn to ride a bicycle. This fearful child may stand by and watch others of his age, or much younger, do these things, or he may go off by himself. He's a very lonely child. Not sharing such fun with other children, he may not often share with them in any kind of fun.

By Garry Meyers

OTHER CHILDREN thinking he is odd, don't often ask him to play with them. Besides, older persons, noticing the things he is afraid to try, talk about his fears and thus make the other children notice all the more his strange ways.

Sometimes this child has poor muscular co-ordination, yet he is the very child who might profit most from learning the skills he won't try.

If you have such a child, you worry about his fearful ways. Sometimes you grow disgusted with him, call him a baby, shame, scold or punish him. In desperation, you may force him to try against his growing fears and strong resistance. You may even keep at this until he has grown hysterical, and you yourself beside yourself.

Instead, you need to be very kind and patient with this child, however retarded he is at such skills. Keep in mind that his fears are real and intense.

As you help him gradually gain more courage, he must be able to trust you and know that you won't let him get hurt.

WORK WITH him on any one of these skills when no other child is present and when no other adult is looking on. Thus you remove one source of fear in him — of being ridiculed.

Begin each skill at the stage where he will have the least possible fear. If it is a slide, don't start him down from the top. Hold him on the slide, a foot or so from the bottom, offering your support until he feels safe without it. After several repetitions of this, start him a bit higher on the slide.

Having helped him enjoy the slide courageously, you can, in like manner, help him slowly and gradually gain courage at trying to acquire the next harder skill. Make your slogan, "Slow and easy and without danger of fright or added fears."

Heart Pigment Being Studied For Clues To Aging Process

By ALTON BLAKESLESS
Associated Press Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Birthdays truly make your heart glow.

The older you get, the more your heart will actually shine or fluoresce if exposed to ultraviolet or black light.

It shines more because more "age pigment" accumulates in living cells of the heart. This pigment is a strange and perhaps very significant fact in the puzzle of why and how we grow old and die.

The pigment shines with a kind of orange light when the heart is inspected with ultraviolet light.

Children up to about age 10 apparently have none of the age pigments in their hearts, autopsy studies show.

But the amount increases in proportion to age thereafter, scientists of the gerontology branch, National Heart Institute, and Baltimore city hospitals find.

In persons of advanced age, perhaps 20 per cent of the heart is made up of the age pigment, which is relatively inactive and seemingly useless.

But it is replacing some of the contractile tissue of the heart cells. A big question is whether this is connected with the higher deaths rates that come with age.

Where the pigment comes from and why are also still unknown. It doesn't seem to be correlated with heart failure, or any particular disease.

Mentally-Ill Son Wounds Parents

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — An elderly Washington County couple was in fair condition at Washington Hospital today after being shot by their son, a mental patient home for Christmas.

Police said Ralph Munce, 24, went berserk during an argument, shot his parents and then tried to poison himself Saturday night.

Hugh Munce Sr., 66, was shot in the abdomen. Mrs. Munce, about 66, lost her right arm. The younger Munce was treated and then released to Torrance State Hospital in Westmoreland County.
